BANKERS OFFERED $5000 for any bank robber, dead or alive, especially dead. Capt. Hames, of the Texas State Rangers, says that four dead bank robbers for which Texas bankers paid $20,000, "were lured into bank robbing jobs by a man who directed them, gave information to the police, and privately shared the rewards for killing them."

Organization of a "murder machine," that starts men robbing banks in order to get $5000 apiece for their corpses, is said to worry the Texas bankers. It might.

On Monday Wall Street broke all records, selling more than 2,900,000 shares. In one day the value of stocks traded in increased by a billion dollars.

Yesterday the stock market again broke its own record, selling more than 4,000,000 shares.

Some poor bears were badly torn and twisted in the whirlwind. Don't sell this country short. It's expensive.

A new career is open to energetic salesmen, Captain Gordon Smith, former army aviator opens the way, in an airplane lent to him and piloted by Richard Wall.

Captain Smith will visit forty American cities in a 9000-mile flight, selling air craft advertising for the New York American. Other newspapers may want to borrow the idea.

Mr. Wall, wealthy Toledo business man, lends his aircraft to Capt. Smith and pilots it "for the fun of flying." The plane will carry an operator and broadcasting apparatus installed by the Radio Corporation of America.

Before long airplanes will simplify the travelling salesman's work, eliminating time and distance, multiplying the salesman's value and earning power by three.

Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, received by the Pope on Monday, presented to the head of the Catholic religion a check for $1,500,000, contributed by American Catholics to "aid in propagation of the faith."

That completes separation of church and State does not injure religion is proved by the fact that American Catholics are the most generous contributors to their church.

Cardinal Mundelein was saluted by the Swiss Guards wearing the interesting uniform designed by Michelangelo. His cloak was removed by Papal "bearers," clad in red damask, that carry the great chair in which the Pope rides to his throne in St. Peter's. The Associated Press report describes Cardinal Mundelein prostrating himself on the ground before the Pope, who affectionately raised and embraced him, and sent a special blessing to each contributor in America.

Stefansson, eating nothing but meat in a test, finds that it agrees with him. Men within the Arctic Circle eat only meat the greater part of their lives, and thrive. Man is an adaptable animal, can live on the Equator, with the thermometer at 140 above, or in the Arctic at 60 degrees below zero. He can eat and live on almost anything.

But what man needs and ought to have is a much mixed diet. His job here is to cultivate the earth. And to make him work Providence has given him a palate that craves all of the earth's products. An all carnivorous or an all vegetarian diet is bad.

The House postoffice committee recommends a cut of $10,000,000 a year in postoffice charges. The one cent postcard will be restored, third and fourth class postal rates reduced.

The suggestion is a good one, if only because it shows that the Government knows how to run a postoffice well, even if it can't run railroads, steamships and such difficult enterprises.

ROAR OF UNSEEN PLANE NEAR HARBOR GRACE IS REPORTED AT ST. JOHN'S

Halifax, N. S., March 14 (AP)—A radio message received at the government wireless station here from Cape Race, N. F., at 10:25 a. m., estern standard time, stated: "St. John's reports nothing of plane since leaving." The weather continued good, with the northwest wind increasing somewhat.

St. John's, N. F., March 14 (AP)—Unconfirmed reports were received today that several residents of Brigus had heard the drone of an airplane between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning.

LEE CAPTAIN ADMITS SHIP WAS OFF COURSE

Admission that the ill-fated steamship Robert E. Lee was one and one-half miles off her course and was ploughing through the storm at nearly full speed when she piled up on the rocks of Mary Ann Ledge, off Nauset, endangering the lives of 159 passengers and 113 officers and crew, was made by her master, Capt. Harland W. Robinson, today.

Capt. Robinson further admitted he had made no allowance for the storm in holding his course, and had refused to agree to a suggestion by Second Pilot Roy M. Litchfield that he haul her out about a quarter point.

The veteran mariner, who has been navigating this same course for 15 years, said he was unable to account for the Lee being so far off her course, but declared he assumed full responsibility.

KNOWN DEAD 248 IN CALIFORNIA FLOOD

Newhall, Cal., March 14 (AP)—The horror of the St. Francis dam disaster reached new depths today as rescue workers counted 248 bodies lying in half a dozen improvised morgues and resumed their search through miles of saffron quagmire for from 300 to 600 of the residents of the little valley believed to have perished in the flood.

Because the silt and slime stretched for 65 miles through the peaceful mountain valleys, in some places 30 feet deep, there was no means of determining how many victims remained in the muddy graveyard which the escaping waters formed for the victims as they were picked up from their homes and dashed to death.

The figures on the recovered bodies posted here follow: Oxnard, 4; Ventura, 9; Fillmore, 47; Newhall, 46; Piru, 61 (unofficial); Santa Paula, 36; Saticoy, 5; Moorpark, 40. Total, 248.

EASTMAN NEAR DEATH IN FIRE; FILMS BURNED

Cairo, Egypt, March 14 (AP)—George Eastman, camera manufacturer of Rochester, N. Y., and the Eastman hunting party, en route home from the heart of Africa, were among passengers who narrowly escaped when fire swept two coaches of a crowded train, including their car.

All films Eastman had made on his trip were destroyed, adding to the fury of the flames which threatened the car's occupants.

Eastman just escaped in his pajamas and members of his party similarly lost everything. When the manufacturer left the Cairo station today for Alexandria his face was grim.

On his arrival in Cairo aboard the train, which had come from Luxor, Eastman was wearing a cap, a blue

THE PATHWAY OF THE ENDEAVOR

Thirty hours after the start, Capt. Walter Hinchliffe was overdue off the coast of Nova Scotia, and was still unreported. Strong squalls are reported as blowing east of Newfoundland and to avoid the storm the nose of The Endeavor may be pointed south. But much depends on the amount of "gas" Hinchliffe has on hand. Should there be an extra quantity he may attempt to reach New York, or even Philadelphia, where a prize of $25,000 awaits the first transatlantic aviator who lands.

DAM FLOOD DEAD ESTIMATED AT 600 BY RELIEF HEADS

after a careful checkup, refused to estimate the number of missing.

The estimates which ranged from 300 to 600, made during a night of almost futile attempts to ascertain the extent of death and havoc, were allowed to stand as the second day of rescue work began.

Attempts to determine from rural and telephone lists the number of possible victims still unaccounted for, were shown to be useless when many bodies of victims were brought in whose names did not appear on these lists.

Left behind by the gouging wall of water, from half a mile to a mile wide, sweeping 65 miles to the sea, were losses estimated at from $10,000,000 to $30,000,000. The city of Los Angeles, heaviest individual sufferer, put its loss in the destroyed dam and the powerhouse below it, at $3,000,000.

The waters flattened scores of homes, ranches, railroad lines and bridges, tore out wire systems, light and power wires, gas mains, highways and bridges, and wreaked inestimable loss in flattened and silt buried orange and walnut orchards and other farm lands.

Speculation on the cause of the breaking of the great dam covered a wide variety of theories. The postmistress at Saugus, Mrs. A. K. Rumsey, declared that for ten days ranchers living in the shadow of the dam had "talked of nothing else" but leaks under and through the structure.

Disaster Had Been Predicted

She said they fearfully discussed the possibility of the very disaster which swept down in the blackness of night to wipe out their homes and families.

A "major earth movement" that loosened the base of the western buttress, was given as the preliminary opinion of William Mulholland, chief engineer of the great aqueduct system of which the dam was a part, as appearing from a brief survey, to have been the cause.

After he and his assistant, H. A. Van Norman, had returned from an all-day tour of the scene, the Board of Water and Power Engineers said that the immediate cause was the giving way of the mountain on the western end of the dam.

A piece of concrete from the dam was crumpled in the hand of Los Angeles County Supervisor Fred Beatty. He commented:

"Yes, it came from the dam, but judgment must not be passed until a competent board of engineers has conducted a searching investigation and has reported to Governor Young."

Demand for relief work and medical supplies was at a minimum as all but a few of the persons in the path of the torrent apparently perished.

Police officers, sheriffs, valley residents and American Legionnaires were organized to continue the search for bodies. Pack trains were formed to move bodies from the quagmire where other means of transportation failed.

Many bodies were found by merest chance, an arm, a hand, even a finger rising from the mire giving the workers the signal that another victim had been found.

Searchers declared that many bodies had been buried beneath 30 feet of sludge and silt.

Perfunctory plans for investigations in a dozen communities have been formed, theaters called, but to the great army of those whose friends or relatives are missing, all such incidentals belong to the future, the work of today being the saving of lives where such saving is possible, and the recovery of the bodies.

The Red Cross is gathering all its equipment in this section, and Los Angeles is the first of the cities to subscribe a relief fund, $50,000, but these efforts at relief are pitiful.

The Santa Clara valley, whose inhabitants proudly boasted that because of its climate anything could be grown and it had no need of the outside world, now needs everything that that outside world can supply.

AVIATORS MISSING

Frantic wives toiled through the night, deep in mud and rain, seeking their missing husbands even after the official searchers had been called off until daybreak.

Others are borne from town to town by sympathetic motorists, fearing yet hoping that the improvised morgues may hold the bodies of those they loved.

Anna Heinzle, 37, of 101 Holden st.; injuries to ribs and right knee; shock.

Three were treated by police and neighboring physicians, but others claiming injuries took cabs to their own doctors.

Three police ambulances were rushed to the scene. The fire is believed to have started from a short circuit beneath the motorman's control box.

Black smoke burst suddenly into the trolley and flames licked up around Motorman Hogan when the trolley was at North st. in Grove Hall. Although cringing from his painful burns, the motorman set his brakes and brought the car to a stop.

With the first burst of flame and roll of smoke, the passengers rushed for the rear door, unmindful of Mrs. Johnson who held her baby in her arms. The boy was torn from her grasp and knocked to the floor.

Without thought for herself, the mother dived beneath the feet of the trampling passengers, fought the panicky men and women off and snatched up her bruised and bedding baby.

Crashing a window with her fists, she dropped the baby out into the arms of a passerby who had darted off the sidewalk.

After being treated for their injuries, most of the passengers went to their homes.

Only One of Family of Eight Escapes Death in Flood

Newhall, Cal., March 14 (AP)—Seven members of one family were claimed by the flood waters of St. Francis reservoir.

A son of Carl J. Mathews, who was here when the flood descended on the Mathews' San Francisquito valley ranch, was the only one to escape.

His wife, Amelia, and their children, Thelma, 12; Charles, 6; Franklin, 4; Carl, Jr., 2, and Miss Vida Mathews, daughter of E. G. Mathews, Inglewood, were the victims.

OLD-AGE-PENSION BILL IS PASSED IN MANITOBA

Winnipeg, March 14 (AP)—The Manitoba old-age pensions bill has passed its third reading in the Legislature. The bill will be effective only after proclamation by the Lieutenant-Governor and probably will not become operative until late in the summer.

VISITING HUNGARIANS GUARDED IN NEW YORK

New York, March 14 (INS)—The delegation of Hungarian statesmen here to participate in the unveiling of a monument tomorrow to Louis Kossuth, Hungarian patriot, was under heavy police guard today.

A small army of police was assigned to guard the visitors because of the riot which marred their arrival from Europe last night on the Inner Olympic.

SIX ATTORNEYS GO ON RECORD FOR READING

Six prominent attorneys today went on record at the State House as counsel for Atty.-Gen. Arthur K. Reading, whose conduct in office is under investigation by a special legislative committee.

In a letter to Representative George F. James, chairman of the committee, they requested that all hearings in connection with the probe be public.

The attorney-general's counsel includes the following leaders of the bar: Alexander Whiteside, Thomas F. McAnarney, William B. Sullivan, Starr Parsons, Elbridge R. Anderson and Robert G. Dodge.

Following is the letter signed by the six attorneys:

"At the request of Hon. Arthur K Reading, attorney-general of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, we have carefully considered the public criticism recently directed against his conduct in office and believing in his integrity have agreed to act as his counsel in the impending legislative investigation.

"We shall deem it our duty as his representatives to assist the committee in a full and complete investigation of any matters into which they may properly desire to inquire, and we request that these hearings be public to insure that the investigation may proceed as expeditiously as possible and at the same time permit counsel acting for him to attend to imperative court and other engagements.

"We will arrange so that some of us will appear for the attorney-general at each hearing. We shall be glad to confer with the legislative committee or its counsel at any time they may desire.

Hinchliffe Takes Black Cat as He Hops on 13th

London, March 14 (INS)—Capt. Walter Hinchliffe, who hopped off at Cranwell Aerdrome on a transatlantic flight, took a black cat with him as a mascot, it was revealed this afternoon. The aviator dared superstition also by starting on the 13th of the month.

'FLYING PEERESS' OVERDUE IN OCEAN FLIGHT TO U. S.

and gold monoplane Endeavor, which took the air in England yesterday to try the uncrossed western air passage of the Atlantic, but aviators still believed at noon that there was plenty of hope.

Although freely acknowledging that the absence of any report of the plane was disheartening, "experts" computed that weather conditions might have so slowed progress that the plane would not reach land until early afternoon, and after sighting land it would be possible for the plane to continue without being sighted if it were flying anywhere near its ceiling of 14,000 feet.

The Endeavor, piloted by Capt. Walter Hinchliffe and believed to have on board the Hon. Elsie Mackay, sponsor of the flight, had enough fuel to last until about 7 o'clock tonight.

If the plane's cruising speed of 105 miles an hour were maintained, the Endeavor should have reached Newfoundland between 4 and 6 o'clock this morning and New York between 8 and 9 p. m. But if weather conditions held the speed down to 80 miles, which is about as low as it could operate, it would not have sighted Newfoundland until 9 a. m.

Since the Endeavor took off at 3:40 o'clock, eastern standard time, yesterday, no positive word of her was received. In Ireland a plane was seen flying westward, but it was not definitely identified as Hinchliffe's. Off the Irish coast a steamer saw a plane, but it was not identified.

Liners proceeding along the great circle course reported that they saw nothing of the plane scheduled to fly above them, and one ship told of a gale.

The Endeavor has a black fuselage, golden wings and struts, and on the under side of the fuselage is painted the name. On either side is painted a Union Jack with the letter G. On the rudder is the number X41531.

Although the flight has been shrouded in mystery since its inception, the fliers' destination was thought to be either New York or Philadelphia, in the latter city the Evening Bulletin, a newspaper, had offered a $25,000 prize for the first westward flight across the Atlantic ending there.

"A large plane high overhead and flying west."

Captain Hinchliffe's ship is a stock model Fimson-Detroiter, purchased on his mystery trip to this country last December. It is equipped with a Wright whirlwind motor and has a cruising speed of 105 miles an hour. The gas consumption is 11½ gallons an hour.

All preparations were being made at Mitchel and Curtiss Fields, New York, for receiving the plane. Orders were issued to turn on the field lights this afternoon and soldiers at Mitchel Field were being held in readiness to keep the field clear for his arrival.

Miss Mackay the Fifth Woman in Atlantic Hop

New York, March 14 (AP)—Miss Elsie Mackay, if she is aboard the monoplane Endeavor with Capt. Walter G. R. Hinchliffe, is the fifth woman to attempt a transatlantic flight. The four previous attempts failed.

Two of the flights, those of Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, ended fatally. Ruth Elder was forced down off the Azores after a flight from New York, and Lilli Dillen, Viennese actress, got little more than a sniff of salt air in her attempted flight to America with two German aviators.

Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim—the first of the women fliers to hop off—left Upavon airdrome, England, August 31, with Capt. Leslie Hamilton and Col. F. Minchin. They were sighted over Ireland and then disappeared. There has been no trace of them since.

Hinchliffe, Like Coli, Lost Eye as War Ace

Like Capt. Francois Coli, lost with Capt. Charles Nungesser in the ill-fated attempt to fly the Atlantic, westbound, last May in the "White Bird," Capt. Walter Hinchliffe holds the same army rating, was a war ace, and has only one eye.

Captain Hinchliffe lost his eye in 1917 when in a plane battle above Amiens he was shot badly about the face, but managed to land with one eye "creased." It was impossible to save it.

For downing nine German planes and two kite balloons, while a pursuit pilot, and his subsequent achievements as a one-eyed bomber, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by Great Britain.

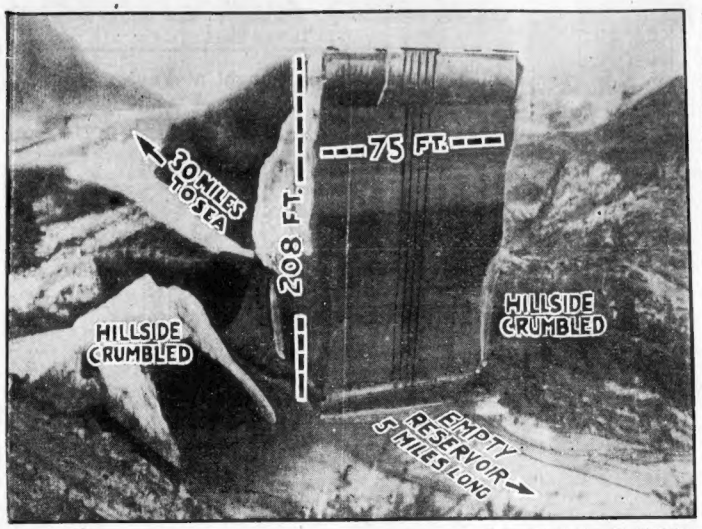
CALIFORNIA FLOOD SPELLS DEATH AND DISASTER



—A. T. & T. Telephoto by International Newsreel

Telephoto picture of the wrecked St. Francis dam with figures indicating the dimensions of the structure. The cause of the break is still a profound mystery and rigid inquiry is being made to determine whether or not some defect in construction was responsible for the disaster which took a heavy toll in human lives, besides doing property damage running well into the millions. One theory that was advanced was that drainage from the surrounding hills working through the subsoil weakened the supporting ends of the structure so that it suddenly gave way.

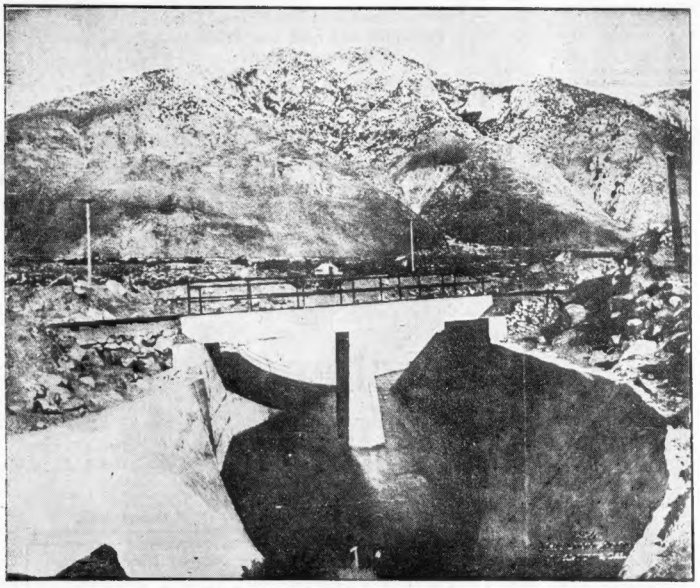
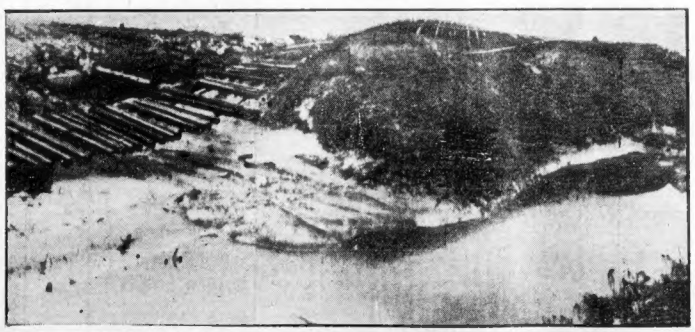
BOSTON AMERICAN
BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1928



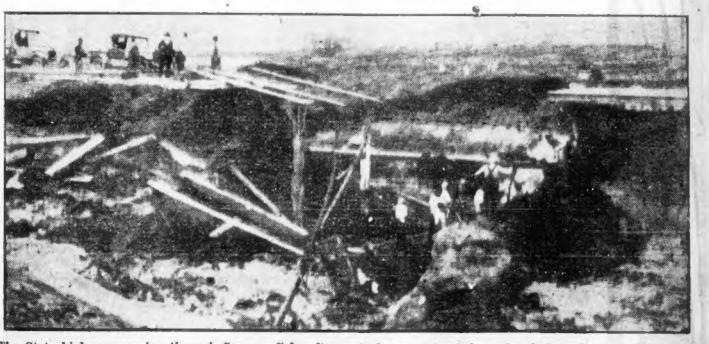
With a fury that flung its sound to the heavens, and seemed as if it would split the eardrums, the Los Angeles aqueduct was turned into a giant of destruction when the St. Francis dam broke, flooding a vast, rich paradise and causing death to hundreds. (International Newsreel telephoto over wires of the A. T. & T. Co.

Searchers continue to hunt through the mud and silt and sand for bodies. Photo by International over A. T. & T. Co. telephoto wires.



The track of the Southern Pacific R. R. near Saugus, Cal., was washed away by the rush of water following the breaking of the St. Francis dam. From the appearance of the undermined roadway, it will be the matter of weeks before the railroad can put trains through over this section of its right of way. The force of the torrent was such that the roadbed was lowered several feet in certain places. In others, such is the caprice of the Flood Demon, the damage was very slight.

—A. T. & T. Telephoto by International Newsreel



The State highway running through Saugus, Cal., often pointed to as a model in road making, is in sorry shape now. The fierce swirl of the rushing waters broke down the foundation of the road, cutting through at one point a depth of more than 20 feet. For miles the road will have to be reconstructed; gaping holes must be filled in and reballasting done before direct communication between Saugus and other towns is re-established. Relief is now being sent into the town by wide detours and over rough surface.

MOTHER PRAYS SHE'LL LIVE FOR GOLD STAR TRIP

How long will it be before Uncle Sam is ready to send Gold Star Mothers to France?

In her humble home in East Cambridge a white-haired mother asks this question almost daily, in the hope that the Father of All may pass its answer now, while she is still living.

"Every day I pray that the bill making mothers to visit the graves of the dead in France will pass," Mrs. Maria Bailey, mother of her son, Cpl. Walter Chatterton Bailey, 3d, who was killed in action on the Champagne front, October 7, 1918.

"Unless they arrange the trip this summer I am afraid that I shall not live to visit my boy's grave," she explained. "I have had rheumatism in my legs for 14 years, and as I grow older they grow worse and now I am nearly helpless. Unless someone or other assistance goes along to take care of me I could find strength to go if there was a chance of going where my brave boy lies."

Mrs. Bailey's home at 26 Eighth st., East Cambridge, is a modest one.

"I am not a wealthy woman," she said, "but I struggled and piddled the night and week afterward. They were the best we had had. I managed to be able to stand the sound of a rifle and didn't had to take to the cellar. I always listened for the postman to ring it when one was overseas. After that I never cared to hear a doorbell ring."

Private Bailey was one of five children. A devoted marriage.

"I always seem to be the forgotten woman," she cried, "I could die happy if I could only see his grave. One relative

U. S. BOARD IN HUB FREIGHT PARLEY

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The North Atlantic-United Kingdom freight conference is invited to meet with the United States Shipping Board here, March 21, on transatlantic rates on cargoes originating in Central Freight Association territory of the United States. The meeting was called at the request of the North Atlantic conference.

This question of rates was brought up by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, which has requested the shipping board to reduce its rates on through shipments passing through Boston, in order to create a scale of rates to Europe which shall be equal to all the Atlantic ports.

Under present conditions Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk have lower rail rates from the interior while the ocean rates from Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk to continental Europe and the United Kingdom are the same despite the fact that Boston and New York, particularly Boston, are much nearer these foreign ports than the other ports are.

DR. PAUL H. MEANS NEW ADVISOR FOR HARVARD

After 33 years of continuous service as medical adviser to Harvard, Dr. Marshall Henry Bailey has retired. Dr. Paul Howard Means was appointed today to succeed him. In addition to serving as medical adviser, Dr. Bailey has been the physician for the Stillman Infirmary. Dr. Means has been assisting Dr. Bailey for the past three years in the work at the Stillman Infirmary.

WRECK HERO IS BURIED WITH HONORS

A crash of rifle fire—like the crash of surf along a beach—and the poignantly clear sound of "Taps" upon a bugle were the last requiem today for William H. Cashman, one of the "Three Men of Manomet," who was drowned during the rescue of passengers from the Robert E. Lee.

Through the streets of East Boston, in a flag draped casket, from the home of his sister in East Eagle st., to the Star of the Sea church, a mile away, and thence to its last resting place in Holy Cross Cemetery, the body of the coast guard surfman was borne.

Crowds lined the streets as the cortege passed, from home to church, from church to cemetery. In the funeral procession were a firing squad, a naval band, two delegations from the Coast Guard service, a police escort and representatives of the State, the army and the navy.

EULOGY GIVEN

The funeral was held from the home of the dead hero's sister, Mrs. Thomas Jones, at 244 East Eagle st. Rev. Bennett O'Brien, curate of the Star of the Sea Church, was celebrant of the requiem high mass.

An eulogy—the second ever to be pronounced within the church—was spoken by Rev. William McDonough, the pastor.

The church, from which many seamen have gone to their final resting places, was crowded when services began. A police detail was necessary to open a path through the throng outside for the passage of the casket.

Among those present at the mass were A. B. Sides, vice-president of the Eastern Steamship Company; S. P. Oldfield, the company's passenger agent; Mrs. Eugene E. O'Donnell, wife of the captain of the Manomet coast guard station; Commander Leland Jordan, Jr., and Lieut. P. S. Hayes, representing Rear Admiral Philip Andrews; Col. H. G. Chase, representing Governor Fuller; Adjt. Gen. Jesse F. Stevens, representing the state.

DAUGHTER OF OFFICIAL

Present also was Miss Betty Dunwaine, daughter of an Eastern Steamship Co. official who was one of the first to reach Cashman when he was washed in on the beach following the upset of the surf boat.

With the body to the grave went 16 men from Base 3 Coast Guard and five members of the Hull Coast Guard station under Capt. George Joseph. With the body to the grave went W. A. Wood, Cashman's comrade at the Manomet station and a friend of many years.

An automobile load of flowers, including tributes from Capt. Robinson of the Robert E. Lee, followed the hearse to the cemetery.

Frank Griswold, who died with Cashman, was buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the First Congregational Church at Manomet. Edward P. Stark, third member of the heroic trio, will be buried from Winslow Congregational Church, Taunton, tomorrow. Military honors will be accorded each.

'Best Eulogy Man's Own Life,' Said of Cashman

"We believe the best eulogy that can be preached is the one a man preaches himself through the record of the life he has lived," said Rev. William McDonough in his eulogy at the funeral of William H. Cashman, hero surfman.

"'Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for a friend.' This good man did more. He gave his life willingly, without hesitation, with courage that amounted to heroism—not for a friend, but for those he did not know." The eulogist praised the service in which Cashman died. "I eulogize them all as I eulogize this man. The heroism of an act like this man performed makes us all better men and women."

M'LAUGHLIN CANDIDATE AT NAHANT ELECTION

William J. McLaughlin is a candidate for highway surveyor of Nahant to be named at the election Saturday. He is a past commander of Mortimer G. Robbins Post 205, American Legion, and during the World War he served in the United States Navy.

In 1926 he was appointed a special police officer for the town and last season W. J. McLaughlin he again received the appointment. Mr. McLaughlin entered the race after nomination papers had been filed. As a result he will make the run on stickers.

Car Porters Vote on Strike for More Pay, No Tips

New York, March 14 (AP)—A Phillip Randolph, general organizer of the National Brotherhood of Sleeping-Car Porters, today announced the organization had begun to vote on a strike to gain among other concessions more wages and the abolition of tips.

The organization, which Randolph said numbers 7,300 of the 10,000 porters in the country, demands a wage increase from $7250 to $150 a month, a 240-hour month instead of the present 320 to 400-hour month, and the recognition of their union.

OIL PROBERS ON BONDS' TRAIL IN CHICAGO

Washington, March 14 (AP)—After a tame session today the Senate Teapot Dome committee turned its quest for the Continental Trading Company's Liberty bonds toward Chicago, where its next meeting will be held tomorrow.

A. V. Leonard, secretary to the late Fred W. Upham treasurer of the Republican National Committee, today's lone witness, testified he knew nothing of Sinclair Liberty bonds sent to Upham by Will H. Hays, who was chairman of the committee during the Harding campaign.

A second witness expected today failed to show up. The committee has issued a subpoena for "Montgomery Clothier" of Philadelphia, but it developed that there was no such person in Philadelphia.

It was announced today that Senator Bratton, Democrat New Mexico, would be unable to accompany Chairman Nye to Chicago. Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, will go in his place.

While Nye and Norbeck are journeying toward Chicago, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will be enroute to Washington to be arraigned tomorrow on charges growing out of his refusal to answer questions of the oil committee regarding the Continental bonds.

Stewart's arraignment had been set for Friday, but was advanced today at his request.

Fall Too Ill to Try, Says Doctor; Must Go to Pacific

El Paso, Tex., March 14 (AP)—The El Paso Times says that Dr. H. T. Safford, who is attending Albert B. Fall, has recommended the former Secretary of the Interior be taken to the Pacific coast because weakness of his heart has made a lower altitude desirable. It was said at the Fall residence that Fall's condition made it impossible to state when he would be able to make the trip. Dr. Safford has said it would be impossible for Fall to attend the Fall-Sinclair trial set for April 2 at Washington.

$50,000 in G. O. P. Slush ☜ Didn't Look So Good

G. O. P. CHEF TURNED DOWN "DEAL"

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, testifying before the Senate Teapot Dome committee that he refused to give Will Hays $50,000 for $50,000 in Sinclair "oil slush" bonds contributed to the Republican party.

"I GAVE THE BONDS BACK TO HAYS"

Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, who testified after five years that Hays in 1923 sent him the $50,000 in Sinclair bonds, but that he sent them back. Later he made a $50,000 campaign contribution.

EASTMAN PARTY FLEES FIRE

pajama coat, trousers which apparently had been borrowed and slippers. His party looked shaken and hurriedly left on the delayed special for Alexandria to catch the White Star liner Doric.

FLEE OUT WINDOWS.

Most of the passengers were American tourists. The train was crowded and temporary couches were placed in a first-class carriage.

It was here that the fire originated and then spread rapidly to the adjoining sleeper in which the Eastman party was travelling. The engineer stopped the train and this enabled the passenger to beat a hasty retreat in their sleeping garments through the windows.

An American woman passenger said the flames enveloped the coach she when the alarm was given and that the windows offered the only exit. The train was on a fairly steep embankment and the passengers pushed one another through the windows.

In their hurry to safety, some of them cut hands, barked shins, sprained ankles and bruised themselves, but these were the only mishaps.

So short was the warning given by the flames that there was no time to save anything or to don suitable garments. Baggage and valuables were abandoned and everything was destroyed.

FINE FILMS ALL GONE.

Charles Prescott, British actor, told a reporter he was awakened by smoke, opened his door and found flames raging outside. He said he had some fearful moments in trying to pull down his window shutter and finally dived through the window in his pajamas.

PARTY AND RAID BRING DIVORCE

Richard M. Lawton of Brookline, Gross and confirmed habits of intoxication were also alleged. Although she had entered a general denial and was present in court, Mrs. Butterworth, an attractive young woman of about 25, did not contest the action.

The Butterworths were married in Winchester in 1922 and lived together in Somerville and Belmont.

Leo E. Fortin of Dorchester, a private detective, testified to the details of the New Year's Eve party and the raid during the early hours of New Year's Day, 1928.

Fortin said that he saw a man call for Mrs. Butterworth at her home in School st., Belmont, about 9 o'clock of New Year's Eve. They drove to a Boston hotel and he followed them, he testified.

He described the progress of the party in the hotel dining room and said that both Mrs. Butterworth and her escort consumed much liquor. The woman once created a scene, he said, by going into the lobby more or less under the influence of liquor and inquiring in a loud voice as to the whereabouts of her "boy friend."

From the first hotel Fortin told of trailing the pair to the second where, he declared, Mrs. Butterworth signed the register, "Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Lawton of Brookline."

An hour and a half later Fortin led a party which included Butterworth, two patrolmen and the head of the detective agency by whom he is employed, to the hotel room occupied by Mrs. Butterworth and Lawton.

Thomas Garvey, hotel night clerk, identified Mrs. Butterworth as the person who signed the register.

The award was a decree nisi handed down by Judge Arthur E. Bone.

HOOVER, SMITH WIN IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Concord, N. H., March 14 (INS)—Herbert Hoover is the favorite of New Hampshire Republicans for President.

Alfred E. Smith is favored by the Democrats.

The Republican delegates at large to the national convention almost complete returns of yesterday's primaries showed today were Governor Huntley N. Spaulding, U. S. Senator George H. Moses, former Governor John G. Winant, State Chairman Thomas P. P. Chesley, Councilor Albert H. Hunt, Thomas R. Varick and Arthur E. Morgan.

Everett R. Rutter of Derry, who was the only one of the 14 Republican candidates not pledged to Hoover, trailed the field of 14 contesting for seven places for delegate-at-large.

With 259 out of 294 cities and towns reported the vote was:

For the successful Hoover adherents: Spaulding, 20,000; Moses, 21,000; Winant, 19,000; Morgan, 14,000; Chesley, 14,500; Hunt, 13,000, and Varick, 14,000. Rutter, the Coolidge-for-President candidate, received only 5500 votes.

Democrats pledged to Smith and their vote follows:

Mayor Eaton D. Sargent, 7800; John T. O'Dowd, 7800; Henry P. Ledoux, 7400; James F. Brennan, 7000; A. J. Connor, 7000; Arthur J. Batchelder, 6200, and Mary J. Connor, 4700.

SOCIALIST MAYOR LEADS IN MILWAUKEE PRIMARY

Milwaukee, March 14 (AP)—Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Socialist, who has served as Milwaukee's chief executive for 11 years, polled 12,000 more votes in yesterday's primary than Sheriff Charles Schultz, nominated to oppose him at the election April 3. Schultz received 78,427 votes to the 41,391 polled by Hoan.

One of the surprising features of the election was that Hoan carried the 15th, or "silk stocking," ward. Non-partisan candidates for other city offices badly defeated Socialist opponents. Elimination of Socialist candidates for aldermen in seven wards marked for aldermanic primary.

new Luxury
that has made Buick a two-to-one favorite among fine cars

Body by Fisher

Magnificent new color combinations . . . form-fitting tailored seat-cushions . . . charming interior decorations . . . Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, front and rear . . . all contribute to Buick's marvelous new order of luxury.

Last year the world invested almost twice as many dollars in Buick motor cars as in any other car—or combination of cars produced by a single manufacturer—except in the very lowest price class.

The savings of this tremendous volume production, reinvested in Buick quality, permit Buick to give luxury in the highest degree—at moderate price.

See Buick when you attend the Show. And you'll see at once why Buick reigns a two-to-one favorite among all fine cars.

JUNIOR LEAGUERS BLAZE NEW TRAIL, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Society Girls of Jacksonville Edit Newspaper to Aid Baby Clinic

THE LENGTH AND BREADTH OF THE LAND, CLEVER JUNIOR LEAGUERS are raising funds for their causes in most original ways. The band that represents Jacksonville's smart and youthful femininity serves as brilliant example for its Boston sisters. Nothing daunts that energetic set when the Baby Clinic their sponsor must have it, coffers replenished. Even so difficult a task as getting out an important newspaper for a day has no terrors. For weeks the Jacksonville League has been hard at work on its self-imposed task.

FROM THE START TO THE FINISH THEY DID THE ENTIRE thing. The "start" goes back a considerable time, when advertisements must be solicited and "features" written. And on the day itself the plant of the Florida Times-Union was supremely Junior League-ish. Fair young things sat at the copy desks; others sat in high estate in editorial chairs; still others aided in the mechanical processes that concern the getting out of a large daily, and of which the world is so generally unaware. The Junior League was behind the scenes in practically every department making the wheels go round.

AND THEN THEY CAPPED THE CLIMAX WITH A DRAMATIC "finish." Some of them became newsboys for the day and sold their papers on every street corner and from every vantage point about the entire city. Jacksonville is proud of its energetic and resourceful young society women. And with good reason, truly. And Jacksonville responded with alacrity and enthusiasm as dulcet voices caroled "Papers" in silvery soprano or caressing contralto. Smart young girls turned "newsies" did a thriving business.

THE SMALL CHANGE SUPPLIED EACH NEWSBOY DIMINISHED hardly at all, since invariably generously inclined purchasers refused their change. Gratifying to the last degree was the shower of coins and bills, destined for the Junior League's work with the Baby Clinic. Jacksonville has set an example. Perhaps some day Boston will go and do likewise. I'm positive Miss Isabella Mumford's Junior League cohorts could do a rattling fine day's work should they turn to newspaper making and selling. Many and oft have been their financial raids, for Charity's sweet sake. But not as yet have they invaded the newspaper field, as their Southern sisters have done.

LECTURERS MAY COME AND LECTURERS may go, but if they have the perennial popularity of the Rev. Mr. Perry their welcome each season is a warmly cordial one. Yesterday, in Mrs. L. Carteret Fenno's handsome ballroom an audience as choice as it was attentive lent charmed ears to Mr. Perry's illuminating words. Granted that his subject was "Napoleon III" and the swiftly-moving days of the short-lived "Second Empire," ending so ingloriously with Sedan. Under this experienced speaker's manipulation a subject much less absorbing could be made to gleam with pointed wit and shafts of satire.

NOT SO VERY LONG AGO I HEARD A VERY pretty tale of Mrs. William A. Gaston's generosity. Thanks to her, some magnificent pieces of furniture, in fact, entire suites, intricately carved and handsomely patterned for drawing room, library and dining room, have been presented to the Charlotte Cushman Club for its new home. The Bay State rd. establishment of Mrs. Gaston and the late Governor has been recently dismantled, and some of its choicest pieces now are permanently to ornament the Cushman Club's further downtown clubhouse.

WHETHER ITS DESTINATION BE THE TROPICS OR THE Old World across the Atlantic, the leisured set that travels whither it will is still on the wing. Mrs. Luther Ferguson, bound for a late winter amid Mexico's varied attractions, sailed from New York a few days ago on the steamship Mexico, in company with her father, M. E. E. Gray. Last winter Mrs. Ferguson made the grand tour of South and Central America, and still before that, China and other round-the-world-trip points were diverting places for many months.

NOT EVERY TRAVELER ON A WORLD-GIRDLING JOURNEY may take tea with a governor-general, but that is exactly the honor that befell Miss Grace Caswell when she arrived in Formosa. Aboard the Belgenland, now sailing majestically in and out of Far Eastern ports, Miss Caswell is traversing the globe continuously westward. When they come up through the Mediterranean she debarks for a month or two ashore in France, for Paris in the springtime, and a late return to Boston and Keene, in New Hampshire.

HOMEWARD BOUND, IN FACT, JUST ABOUT ARRIVING, ARE Mr. and Mrs. Ronald T. Lyman, after a jaunt around the Continent of several weeks. They arrive on this side in time to help celebrate the wedding festivities of Miss Elizabeth Parker, charming young Washingtonian and niece of Mrs. Lyman. Miss Parker has visited Miss Elizabeth Lyman, her Boston cousin, frequently. And Miss Lyman is included in the picturesque group of attendants for next Saturday's wedding when Miss Parker becomes Mrs. George Howe. A handsome girl invariably makes a handsome bride. Miss Parker is the first, and without doubt will be the second, to everyone's visual satisfaction.

ENGLISH OPERA STARS IN "MADAME BUTTERFLY"

By MOSES SMITH

The American Opera Company presented its English version of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" last evening, following its great success in "Faust" on the opening night. Though the audience was not as large and brilliant as it had been for the debut, it was just as cordial, recalling the performers persistently after each act.

This performance of "Butterfly" did not have the strangeness, naturally, that "Faust" had. For Puccini's opera is, as it stands in the score, already a well-made musico-drama. There was not so much to be "done" with it or to it by Rosing and his associates. Yet they made one grateful for the effective single scenic set, designed by Norman Edwards, for the costumes far more convincing than in the ordinary operatic production, designed by Yuji Ito, for the speeding up of the tempo and genuine dramatic appeal.

And so, though "Butterfly" is ordinarily presented with some semblance of illusion, there was something more of moving drama last night. A character like Sharpless, the American consul, which is regarded as a thankless task for a performer, and generally performed in that spirit, was played with conviction and sincerity by Allan Burt, whose admirable voice deserves special mention.

Maria Lacovino was a vocally and dramatically appealing Butterfly. Perhaps lack of experience accounted for slight rhythmic uncertainty. Helen Oelheim displayed a fresh voice of great richness in the part of Suzuki, the servant. The other principal role, Pinkerton, was well sung and acted by Charles Hedley, who, in dress and bearing, suggested the U. S. naval officer.

Again we were pleased by the fidelity of the lesser parts, for the realistic ensemble, or the spirited conducting of Frank St. Leger. And it was possible to note the effects of an English translation more clearly—a slight peculiarity, perhaps more than offset by the creation of a feeling of intimacy between players and audience. And this English is being enunciated with remarkable clearness.

GASOLINE TAX BILL REJECTED

The proposed gasoline tax of 2 cents a gallon with a 70 per cent reduction in registration fees, framed to meet the inaugural recommendation of Governor Fuller, today received an adverse report from the House ways and means committee.

The committee action means a sharp contest in the House when the report comes up for debate. A determined effort to substitute the bill for the adverse report will be made by Carroll L. Meins, chairman of the committe on taxation.

A year ago, a bill passed both branches imposing a 2-cent tax with a flat registration fee of $3. Governor Fuller vetoed the measure on the ground that it would not produce enough revenue.

Among the various reasons given by members of the committee for the report of "next annual session" were. Absence of a provision for distributing 1 cent of the tax among the cities and towns, hostility of the automobile interests, and hailing of Day Baker, lobbyist, before the joint rules committee for having sent tickets for the automobile show to legislators with an argument against the tax.

WHOLE VILLAGE WILL BE SOLD

Fitchburg, March 14 (AP)—The entire village of Parkhill Mills, including more than 30 acres of land, three mills, mill tenements, garages and small buildings, is to be sold at public auction next week.

The property is valued at about $4,000,000, and is owned by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. These mills, until recently, employed 2000 operatives, practically all of whom have been retired or moved to Manchester, N. H., to continue work at the Amoskeag Mills in that city.

MUDDY DESOLATION IS COMBED BY HUNDREDS FOR FLOOD DEAD

SURVIVORS TOUR MORGUES IN SEARCH FOR RELATIVES

dead will never be known, the searchers believe, because many of the victims were workers in field and orchard who drifted from town to town and from community to community with the changing seasons.

A grim picture is painted by the fact that two aviators, due in the stricken area at just the time in proportion to the tragedy, the flood roared down the valley, are among the missing. They may have been caught in the swirling torrent after their landing, or even have made a desperate effort at rescue work only to be themselves engulfed in the relentless flood.

The aviators are C. W. English and B. D. Howe, who left Clover field for the Southern California Edison Co.'s plant at the dam.

The district was a peculiarly helpless target for the tide's fury. No brave messenger could ride ahead with a warning as in the historic Johnstown flood. There were no heights of safety to reach even if warning had been given. But the gibing, sneering, merciless avalanche struck in the dead of the night.

DIE IN SLEEP

One fearful feature of the flood's destruction is the fact that there are no injured. It was complete in its work of death.

There are no crowded hospitals, no loving ones waiting to see if the injured ones are to live or die. Death is the answer left behind by the wall of water now joined to the salt waves of the Pacific.

Death found most of the victims asleep in their beds.

It was shortly before 1 a. m., when the dam went out, with a roar that gave rise to rumors of an explosion. Down San Francisquito canyon, overwhelming the great Los Angeles city power plant, down into Santa Paula valley, rushed the waters, on their way to the distant sea.

Dry Santa Clara river roused, turning into a torrent 20 feet deep and a mile wide.

Memories of the survivors have the incoherency of a nightmare.

Complete darkness descended upon the region when the dam went out. Then catastrophe was presaged by sinister flashes from the transmission plant below the dam. The waters roared down, blanketing the power plants and lines that served the valley.

Rumor added its quota of terror to the terrific actuality. All communication was destroyed. Telephone and telegraph lines were silent. Railroad tracks were washed out. Highways were so flooded or torn that rescuers fought their way in against heartbreaking obstacles.

Bridges went out. The Midway Company's oil and natural gas pipe lines were battered away.

Lighting and communication facilities are being restored, but the full story of the tragedy still lies buried in the flooded valley.

Floating against Saugus and Newhall from the torrent of death. There was nothing to save Castaic, Canoga, Piru, Fillmore, Santa Paula and Saticoy. Confusion and uncertainty still dictate the reports from these communities.

A roar of sound accompanying the collapse of the dam gave rise to early rumors that the structure had been dynamited. These were quickly discounted by officials of the water bureau.

A little below the dam in San Francisquito canyon, which is 45 miles north of Los Angeles, the city constructed a power house generating 41,000 horsepower of electrical energy. The flood left only the foundation and two great turbines.

It is believed there were about 65 men in the power house when the flood struck. From a nearby canyon came a plea for help to take out the bodies of six men.

Lower down, a construction camp of the Southern California Edison Co. housed 150 men. Only about 60 thus far have been accounted for.

Harry Carey's trading post was left a scene of desolation.

A telephonic description of the appearance of the flood-swept region came from Santa Paula:

"You could look for miles and see nothing but a sweeping torrent, and on its surface debris that mingled in horrible mixture the bodies of humans, houses and trees and everything that would float."

At Newhall, Under-Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz announced that plans to continue the search for the bodies by powerful arc lights had been abandoned.

FLOOD RELIEF SUPPLIES POUR INTO LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, March 14 (AP)—Touched by tales of the wretchedness of flood victims in the San Francisquito canyon and Santa Clara valley, citizens of Los Angeles pushed relief measures today. All newspapers of the city solicited funds and steady streams of clothes, food and other necessities flowed into the many relief headquarters established.

Coolidge Offers U. S. Relief to Flood Victims

Washington, March 14 (INS)—President Coolidge expressed his sympathetic interest today in the California flood disaster and proffered any governmental relief agencies that may be required.

The President called Senator Shortridge (R.) of California to the White House and discussed the situation with him. Shortridge told the President he did not think there was anything the government could do at this stage.

Dam's Concrete Crumbled in Fingers

Newhall, Cal., March 14—Fred T. Beatty, member of the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county, inspecting the site of the collapsed St. Francis dam, picked up a piece of concrete and declared that he had crumbled it between his fingers. Beatty said:

"Yes, it came from the dam, but judgment must not be passed until a competent board of engineers has conducted a searching investigation and has reported to Governor Young.

VALLEY FEARED DAM BREAK FOR 10 DAYS

Newhall, Cal., March 14—For the past ten days ranchers living in the shadow of the St. Francis dam had "talked of nothing else" but reported leaks in the structure and the possibility of the disaster that wrecked their homes and wiped out their families.

This is the charge made by Mrs. A. M. Rumsey, postmistress at Saugus, a nearby town.

FELT NO QUAKE

The first report from the scene of disaster said that an earthquake had wrecked the dam, but no tremors were reported elsewhere. Later, an inspection of the wrecked structure indicated that seepage through the hill to which the west wing of the dam was anchored had allowed it to bulge and crash; then the east wing followed, and only the central portion remained while the great cataract poured through the breach to blot out life in San Francisquito canyon.

Mrs. Rumsey said that ranchers in San Francisquito canyon had repeatedly told her it "would be the end of them" if the dam ever gave way.

Supporting Mrs. Rumsey's statement, an auto driver, according to the investigators, stated that while driving up the canyon road last night with his wife and family he saw an unusual quantity of muddy water coursing through the ordinarily dry stream bed.

FINDS DAM LEAKING

The autoist, said the officers, drove up to the dam expecting to see the water coming over the spillway, but found none flowing. Driving closer, he said he noticed that the water behind the battress was within three feet of the top and that the spillway gates apparently were closed, although there was a good stream running down the canyon.

Further along the road the autoist reported, he found a gang of workmen drilling holes apparently in preparation for dynamite blasts to blow off the shoulder of a hill not more than 200 feet from the dam.

"And it was then," the officers reported the autoist as saying, "I remarked to my wife that it looked like a pretty heavy charge to set off so close to the dam. We were in the hills until nearly 7 o'clock in the evening and I am certain the blast was not set off until that hour, for we undoubtedly would have heard it."

Sidelights on Flood in California Valley

Newhall, Cal., March 14 (AP)—Pete Labara, 16, shouted to his parents to run when he heard the roar of the approaching water. He was told the noise was just the wind. The boy grabbed the hands of his 10-year-old and 12-year-old sisters and fled to the hills. They escaped, but their parents perished.

Sixteen-year-old Thelma McCauley of Fillmore, ill in bed with the measles, was in the water 12½ hours and half-buried in silt, when found. Doctors who gave her emergency treatment said she probably would survive. Her mother and father are missing.

Rosa Samango battled the flood two hours with her aged mother in her arms. She won her fight and reached shore. The mother was dead. Her father is missing.

A four-room house floated a mile without one piece of its furniture being disarranged. Even the table lamps were found upright in their places.

The death list will total 250 persons in Ventura County alone, according to Under Sheriff Emmett Durley, who said he found the entire Mexican quarter of Santa Paula had been swept away.

Orange growers of the stricken district said they were threatened with enormous losses because of disruption of communication at the moment when the crop was ready for shipping.

For 45 miles along the Santa Clara valley the torrent from the broken St. Francis dam cut a new channel nearly a mile wide and 20 feet deep. One result was that every bridge over the river, except that at Saticoy, was wrecked.

Coast highway traffic was detoured at El Rio to Saticoy, the coast route being open from there to Ventura, and thus out of the scourged area.

Red Cross centers established at Newhall and Saugus have begun the work of innoculation and immunization to prevent a possible pestilence following the flood.

Names of 72 missing were reported to the Los Angeles bureau of power and light. All were occupants of San Francisquito canyon at the time of the dam collapse.

Southern California Edison Company, after a final check, placed the number of missing at their camp below the dam at 90. Of these eight are known to be dead and their bodies recovered.

C. W. English and B. D. Howe, aviators, who left Cloverfield Monday for the Southern California Edison Company's plant near the wrecked dam, are among the missing.

Many of the bodies recovered were found by the merest chance, an arm, a hand, even a finger rising from the mire, giving the workers the signal that another victim had been found.

Searchers report that in some sections mud and slime 30 feet deep bury hundreds of victims.

The actual loss of life may not be known for weeks. Any estimate will be futile until a complete canvass of the valley is complete.

The ability of a newspaperman to "cover" his assignment at the scene depended somewhat upon his faculty for wading through seas of mud. An Associated Press staff man stripped himself from heels to waist several times, to ford streams and save his clothes for an anticipated cool night at Newhall.

The Southern Pacific railway's main line service was stopped for 10 hours while repairs were made to its Montalvo bridge and a portion of undermined track. Four coast passenger trains were held up.

A railroad bridge and 200 feet of track were carried away west of Saugus. Another bridge, 150 feet of steel, was carried away between Castaic and Pardee. A half-mile of track was tossed aside and a thousand feet of trestle torn down.

Wrecked highway bridges and undermined pavement near Castaic will prevent the opening of the Ridge route, inland highway to Bakersfield and northern points, for several weeks, officials reported.

BOY TELLS GRAPHIC STORY OF START OF BIG FLOOD

Newhall, Cal., March 14—George McIntyre, whose two brothers and father are missing, said:

"We made our way outside together and within two or three minutes we were swimming side by side in the torrent. I managed to catch hold of a limb of a tree and pulled myself up into the upper branches. My father disappeared in the torrent. When the water had subsided somewhat I swam half a mile to reach the shore."

SAVES 47 BUT PAYS WITH OWN LIFE

Newhall, Cal., March 14—A 65-mile stash through the very heart of a beautiful valley——

Two correspondents followed that still bleeding wound from the spot where the torrent spread its hoarish flood to sully the white surf of the sea. They rode the highway patches, walked and ran through the heavy mud. They stalked through the slippery slime and they found that men could chuckle at their own deeds of valor and that women could carry on dry-eyed, although hearts were breaking.

They heard the sagas of a dozen heroes.

And the greatest of these was Ed Locke.

Guard of the Southern California Edison Co. construction camp at Blue Bend, Ed Locke saved the lives of at least 47 men and died with his boots on and his belt and gun about his waist.

"Scotty" Gordon, whipped and grey-bearded little engineer and a hero in his own right, chuckled and laughed as he told of the deed of Ed Locke.

"We found Ed Locke with his gun and belt on where he fell," he said. "And, ha, ha, ha—a jug of wine at his side. Someone had put it there."

"And mighty good work it did this day," said H. A. Newell, special agent of the Edison camps and one of those who escaped, as he clung to the running board of "Scotty's" little flivver crime, in which the rancher all day taxied men over his own little stretch of highway, with never a word of the fare.

"Ed Locke gun up and down the row of tents without a thought of his own skin. I was one of them that found his body."

OLD MATTRESS SAVES MOTHER, 3 CHILDREN

Newhall, Cal., March 14—An old feather mattress saved the lives of Mrs. Sisto Luna and her three children when their home on the outskirts of Santa Paula collapsed.

With her three children, the youngest less than one month old, Mrs. Luna clung to the mattress and was swept down stream more than two miles, until her feather-borne craft came to rest in a tree top sticking up through the flood.

William Spring, a neighbor of the Lunas, swam a mile to safety with his six-months-old child clinging to his neck. Mrs. Spring hung to the branches of an orange tree until rescued by workers from Santa Paula.

POPULATION OF N. E. GAINS 875,000

Washington, March 14 (AP)—A provisional estimate by the census bureau today placed the population of the United States as of July 1, 1928, at 120,012,870, an increase of 14 per cent over the 105,710,620 actual count on January 1, 1920. The next federal census will be taken in 1930.

Florida, where the population was estimated to have increased about 48 per cent between 1920 and 1925, showed the greatest gain although a 25 per cent increase was indicated for California, and nearly 20 per cent gains for Michigan.

The total estimated gain in New England is about 875,000.

The figures are: For Massachusetts 3,852,356 in 1920 and 4,250,000 in 1928; for Maine 768,014 in 1920, and 795,000 in 1928; for New Hampshire 443,083 in 1920 and 456,000 in 1928; for Vermont 352,428 in 1930 and three same for 1928, Vermont having shown a decrease from 1910 to 1920; for Rhode Island 604,397 in 1920 and 714,000 in 1928; for Connecticut 1,380,631 in 1920 and 1,667,000 in 1928.

BARRIE WANTS BETTY BRONSON IN TITLE ROLE

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

LOS ANGELES, March 14—"Hello, Peter Pan, when are you going to play 'Mary Rose?'" said J. M. Barrie, shaking hands with Betty Bronson and smiling into the eyes of the little girl who epitomized his idea of the boy who never grew up.

"Mary Rose?" faltered Betty. Then Sir James Barrie told her that an English company had spoken of producing his play and that he had suggested her for the part. Not having an astral body, I'd better explain this conversation was repeated in a letter received yesterday.

"Can you stay over here and play 'Mary Rose?'" Barrie asked Betty. She told him she would rather play "Mary Rose" than any other character on the screen but that she wanted to make it in America. "Why don't you?" asked Barrie.

That little bit of encouragement was all Betty needed. She is now on her way back to this country, determined to get an American director to produce not only "Mary Rose" but "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire" as well.

"Mary Rose," one of the most delicate, ethereal, of the Barrie plays, was brought to the stage by Ruth Chatterton. There is a psychic note in it and a touch of the supernatural that is fascinating and delightful but it will have to be produced with the utmost care to maintain its delicacy.

Little Miss Bronson also played the screen heroine in "A Kiss for Cinderella," another Barrie play.

THE seductive Greta Garbo who makes every man not only willing but eager to leave home once he has gazed upon her on the screen is to be co-starred with Jack Gilbert in "War in the Dark," from a play by Ludwig Wolfe.

This will please the women as well as the men, for Jack Gilbert stimulates the feminine imagination just as much as Greta Garbo furnishes romance to the sterner sex. "War in the Dark" is the scenario that has been occupying every moment of Bess Meredyth's waking hours these last few weeks. You will remember when Fred Niblo decided to direct a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer epic, he sent for Miss Meredyth to write the script.

Trader Horn Lands in U. S. Like Rip Van Winkle

New York, March 14 (INS)—Trader Horn, celebrated author of one of the best selling books, "Trader Horn," arrived in New York today after years of bartering through the African Congoland. In his own quaint way he expressed his delight that he is "back to God's country."

"I'm an old rogue elephant that's back with the herd again," chuckled the picturesque looking old man, who is combination of Santa Claus, John Burroughs and Rip Van Winkle. He is 73 years old.

He wore a heavy, monstrous felt hat tilted easily on the back of his head. A gaily-tinted handkerchief peeked out of his breast pocket. He puffed a big cigar. A cane and a tweed cape-coat imparted an air of nonchalance.

His royalties of $4000 a week brought him back, he admitted. Asked if prohibition was in effect in the jungle, he answered.

"No, every native makes kaffir beer and palm wine. Mix the two and you have good booze. A three-legged pot and a gun barrel form a fine still."

The picturesque visitor's real name is Alfred Aloysius Smith.

5 DROWN IN 3 FEET OF WATER

Allentown, Pa., March 14 (AP)—Five persons were drowned in three feet of water when an automobile plunged over a culvert bridge into Coplay Creek at West Kokendauqua early today.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer, 25, and daughter, Olga, eight, of Eagle Point; Mike Goile, 37, of Coplay, and Mrs. Frank Eckert, 32, of West Coplay.

The tragedy wiped out the Meyer family, while Mrs. Eckert leaves a husband and 11 children, ranging from 8 months to 18 years. Goile is survived by a wife and six children. Mrs. Eckert's husband was the owner and driver of the car.

OUTSIDERS LED SCHOOL BATTLE

Outsiders, and not Chelsea High School students, were engaged in the fist fight and general fracas at the basketball game in Everett High School gymnasium between Everett and Chelsea, Principal Frank T. Wingate of the Chelsea institution asserted today.

High school girls screamed and fainted while rooters for both teams milled on the floor, necessitating calling of police.

Principal Wingate said he had talked with teachers and coaches of his school present at the game and they had recognized none of the battlers as a student of Chelsea.

NEW CHIEF SEES BEST AIRPORT FOR BOSTON

Lieut. Donald G. Duke, new commander of the Boston Airport, at an informal dinner at the Algonquin Club tendered his predecessor, Capt. Horace N. Heisen, expressed the hope that he local airport may soon be the finest in the country.

Lieut. Duke said he planned to carry out the idea already set in motion by Capt. Heisen, who leaves today to take up his duties at Ft. Crockett, Tex.

Others present at the dinner included Maj. Edwin H. Cooper; Capt. Travers D. Carman, commander of Crosscup-Pishon Post, A. L.; Capt. Robert F. Raymond, Lieut. Henry Pragoff, Lieut. Will Brown, Lieut. Carl Shumway, Lieut. Crawford Holdridge, Lieut. Charles Clark and Capt. Gardiner Fiske.

Capt. Fiske, acting chairman of the municipal airport, described the growth of the port since Capt. Heisen took it over. When he first took command there were only 10 planes operating, but now there are 40, Capt. Fiske said. He stated the municipal airport had always received the utmost co-operation from Capt. Heisen.

MAKE NEW MOVE TO SAVE DORIS FROM NOOSE

Ottawa, Ont., March 14 (INS)—Another scene will be enacted today in the fight to save Doris McDonald from death on the gallows, Minister of Justice Hon. Ernest Lapointe will meet J. A. Legault, K. C., counsel for the McDonalds. Legault will present new evidence on behalf of the former Mt. Vernon, N. Y., girl, who is now occupying a cell in the Montreal jail.

Legault said the detectives who have been working on the Adelard Bouchard murder case may seek a reprieve for George and Doris McDonald as they are trying to get McMullen, who was the third man in the taxicab when Bouchard was murdered.

"McMullen is supposed to be in New York and the police are working hard in an effort to locate him," Legault said. "George and Doris McDonald would be essential witnesses should he be captured, as they are the only ones who can identify him as being connected with the crime."

At his conference with the minister of justice, Legault will seek commutation of sentence for the McDonalds, or at least a reprieve.

A confession alleged to have been made by Doris McDonald in Denver when she was arrested has been repudiated by the girl, Legault stated. She told the counsel the statement was made by her under threat.

AMERICA has become a two-car country—one car for the man in his business, and one or more cars for the home.

Two-car ownership is an economy as well as a convenience. Time is precious; and the family which is isolated when the father drives away is shut off from many opportunities.

A thrifty way to give your family the advantages of a second car is to buy a used car from a General Motors dealer.

He is a selected merchant, a representative business man in his community. Every car in his store represents value in proportion to its price; and he alone can offer you the convenience and satisfaction of the GMAC Plan of payment.

LEE OFF COURSE WHEN SHE HIT

Laurel st., Melrose, and who has commanded numerous other vessels owned by the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., was the first witness to appear before Capt. Herman T. Parker and Inspector John Stewart, acting as a joint board of inquiry.

The hearing took place in the customs court of the Appraisers' Stores in Atlantic ave., before a gathering that filled the room.

Capt. Robinson not only showed no inclination to attempt to evade responsibility for the wrecking of the $1,500,000 steamship, but denied he had ever made statements that the snow had caused a deviation of his compass.

After recounting his various other commands, Capt. Robinson said he had been master of the Robert E. Lee since last November.

BELIEVED IT SAFE

"When the ship grounded," he testified, "I was in the pilot house with Coast Pilot Litchfield, who is known as second pilot, and the quartermaster of the ship was also on duty there.

"We left Boston at 5:01, the wind being east southeast and snowing. The force of the wind was a 25 to 30-knot rate, and observation about a mile."

Capt. Parker asked the witness if in his judgment it was safe to start the voyage, and he replied: "Yes."

He then described the course which he said he had navigated ever since the Cape Cod Canal was opened 15 years ago. Capt. Robinson told of reaching Buoy 4, which he saw, and which by reference to the log he found was passed at 6:46. The next point on the course was Mary Ann rocks.

"Did you see it?" he was asked.

"No," Capt. Robinson replied.

"What was your distance off Buoy 4 when you passed it?"

USED HIGH SPEED

"Close on my port."

"Did you hear it whistling?"

"Yes."

Q.—What time did you expect to reach Mary Ann rocks? A.—About 7:40.

Q.—What course did you steer? A.—South, three-quarters west.

Q.—Is that magnetic or compass course? A.—Compass.

Q.—Did you make any allowance for leeway? A.—Yes, usually a half mile. I didn't allow leeway on this particular night, because I wanted to sight Mary Ann. The first I knew we were off the right course was three minutes before the ship struck, when she started to vibrate.

Q.—What was your normal speed? A.—Sixteen to 17 miles.

Q.—What speed were you doing when she struck? A.—Sixteen and a half.

Capt. Robinson then pointed out a spot on the chart where the Lee struck, which showed she was three-quarters of a mile inside Mary Ann rocks. The usual course is three-quarters of a mile outside.

Q.—Then you were one and a half miles off your course? A.—Yes.

"I can't understand why she went in that far. The wind must have been stronger," he said.

Q.—What time was the pilot relieved? A.—Six o'clock at Minot's Light.

Q.—Did anyone on board doubt you were on the right course? A.—Yes, Mr. Litchfield. He advised me to haul her out a quarter point.

Q.—Did you? A.—No. I didn't want to get too far out.

Q.—Do you accept full responsibility for the navigation of your vessel? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was there any more deviation than usual on this night? A.—No.

Q.—Have you made any statement to that effect? A.—No.

QUIETED PASSENGERS

Asked to state briefly but in detail what took place after grounding, as to his action for the protection of passengers and crew, Capt. Robinson said:

"I ordered soundings and found plenty of water. I sent the officers of the ship to tell the passengers there was no danger and all would remain on board until daylight. We started to unload passengers at 10 o'clock and had all of them off at 12:30. The crew left at 2 o'clock.

Asked if he had sent an S O S, the witness replied: "No."

He said he sent a radio to A. P. Sides, vice-president of the company, and then answered Sides' radios. Shortly after the ship struck the wind shifted to north northeast, he testified.

Asked what occurred before he took the ship out of her dock on the fatal trip, Capt. Robinson said:

"Mr. Sides read the weather report to me. The wind was then east southeast. It had been shifting from south to east all day."

DIDN'T SEE LIGHT

Asked if he had any fault to find with the crew of complaints from the passengers, the witness replied in the negative.

He said he did not see the light on Mary Ann rocks until two hours after the ship grounded.

In concluding his testimony Capt. Robinson said he had commanded the steamships New York, Calvin Austin, Herman Winter, North Star, Northland, H. P. Dimock, Pawnee, Delaware and Camden, and had never grounded before.

Who Is The Biggest Individual Retail Piano Dealer In The United States?

I sell pianos not only in Boston, Greater Boston and New England, but also throughout the United States. I have friends in about every State. My pianos may be seen in Cuba, Mexico and South America.

—J. P. COLLINS

IT IS ADMITTED that I am the largest individual piano dealer in Boston. That, of course, means New England. If figures were available, I think that they would show that J. P. Collins is the biggest individual piano dealer in the United States. No, I am not bragging. I am merely trying to show that any business devoted to the service of the people will grow and prosper as long as the head of that business gives the people his friendship for their friendship, a dollar's worth for their dollar—and as long as he has a full measure of respect in his heart for the people with whom he does business.

I rate friendship, in or out of business, as one of the greatest things in the world. I strive to earn the friendship of even my poorest customer. He needs the square deal, and the history of my business shows that he always appreciates it.

No, I am no philanthropist. I am in business for an honest profit, but let me say right here again—I would rather sell 100 pianos for one dollar apiece profit than sell one piano for $100 profit.
Didn't our own great philosopher, Emerson, say: "If a man can write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

I know, my friends, that when I gave you a better deal and a lower price on a better piano, that you would make a beaten path to MY door—and you did it. And you are my friend and I am your friend—and I thank you.—J. P. COLLINS.

Don't Be Skinny and Scrawny

New YEAST and IRON will add pounds of weight in 3 Weeks—or Pay Nothing

If you are skinny as a rail and can hardly drag your tired body through each day, do something to put on good, firm flesh. Start right now taking Ironized Yeast and get pounds of weight where you need it.

How YEAST and IRON Makes Weight and Strength

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated to give the utmost in flesh producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure vegetable iron, the same as in spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by sour or iron taken separately.

It clears the blood of impurities that ruin complexion, so that you get a clear healthy skin. Go to your druggist and get a handy bottle. It will prove to you that you can be made attractive and healthy. Pleasant, tasty tablets in a bottle. They do not upset the stomach nor cause gas or bloating.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Just ask your druggist for a full size treatment. If you are not satisfied with the quick results, get your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from the druggist, send $1.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 2210-H.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.

U.S. STANDS PAT ON NICARAGUA ELECTIONS

Washington, March 14 (INS)—The American government intends to proceed with the supervising of this year's Nicaraguan elections, despite the refusal of the lower house of the Nicaraguan Congress to approve the McCoy plan.

This was announced at the State Department today with considerable emphasis. The department takes the position this government has committed itself with the present Diaz regime to supervise the October elections, and nothing can alter that commitment.

Officials do not believe it will be necessary to reinforce American military forces already in Nicaragua.

Managua, March 14 (INS)—President Diaz of Nicaragua today was considering the advisability of calling a special session of Congress to consider again the measure empowering the United States to supervise the general election in October.

A tense political situation has followed rejection of the bill by the House of Deputies after it was enacted by the Senate.

HOOVER WILL PASS UP ALL RADIO DECISIONS

Washington, March 14 (AP)—What to do in case Congress fails to pass legislation by Thursday to extend the life of the Federal Radio Commission, which expires on that day, was discussed by President Coolidge today with Secretary Hoover. After the conference Hoover said that although the law provides that upon the expiration of the commission its duties shall revert to the Secretary of Commerce, and it shall remain as an appellate body, he would probably continue to refer decisions to the commission. Inasmuch as Mr. Hoover believes ultimate extension of its life is a foregone conclusion, he was of the opinion that the radio organization should not be unduly disrupted.

HEADQUARTERS OF KLAN MOVED TO WASHINGTON

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Except for its regalia factory and printing plant, which will be kept in Atlanta, all of the activities of the Ku Klux Klan hereafter will be conducted from Washington.

This announcement was made last night by Dr. Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard, after the work of moving into new quarters on Massachusetts ave, began earlier in the day.

AUTO HITS TREE IN SCITUATE; 5 INJURED

Three Cambridge youths, a Cambridge girl and a Somerville girl, one of whom may have fatal injuries, are at Scituate Hospital today following a crash at Scituate Harbor shortly before midnight, when their automobile left the road and hit a tree.

THE INJURED

William Henderson of Cambridge, on danger list with fractured skull.

Raymond Quigley, 34 Boylston st., Cambridge, broken arm.

William Creedon, Cambridge, fractured hip.

Catherine Callahan, Cambridge, bruises.

Helen Carol, Somerville, bruises and lacerations.

The accident occurred when the automobile in which all were riding was rounding a corner from Scituate harbor into the Hatherly Beach rd., heading toward Boston. The corner is known as Wilson's corner.

The automobile left the road and crashed head on into a huge elm tree, demolishing the car and pinning the occupants in the wreckage. Other motorists rendered aid and police rushed the injured to the hospital in commandeered automobiles.

According to the police, the car was owned and operated by Quigley. A state highway inspector was ordered to investigate the accident.

GLORIA CARUSO GIVEN $12,000 A YEAR INCOME

Trenton, N. J., March 14 (AP)—Under an order approved by Chancellor Walker today, Gloria Caruso, daughter of the late Enrico Caruso, will receive an allowance of $12,000 a year to provide for her maintenance and education in a manner befitting her station in life.

The money will be drawn from an accumulation of royalties on Caruso records under a contract with the Victor Talking Machine Company, and will be paid to the mother of the child. In her petition to the court it was stated by the mother that her household and other expenses total $30,000 a year, and that her personal income is only about $3,000.

Since the death of Caruso in 1921 the royalties paid to his estate aggregate $747,449. The total for 1921 was $422,981.56, which dropped to $125,177.66 in 1922 and thereafter declined to $74,762.73 last year.

Among expenses listed by the mother were $6000 a year for a New York apartment, $4500 covering the wages of servants, $7200 for food, $5000 for clothing and $4000 for an automobile. Items relating specifically to Gloria were $1500 for a nurse, $2000 for clothing, $1100 for French and Italian lessons, $600 for general schooling, $500 for musical education, $100 for dancing lessons.

Thorn on Rose Given by Girl Causes Death; Widow Gets Claim

Columbus, O., March 14 (AP)—When Prof. John Davison of Ohio Northern University, Ada, O., accepted a rose from the hand of a girl of the Green Springs high school graduating class on May 24, 1924, he was on the course of his regular duties and under protection of the Workmen's Compensation Law, the State Supreme Court ruled today.

A thorn on the stem of the rose pricked his thumb, causing death, after which Clara Davison, the widow, filed a claim with the State Industrial Commission which refused to grant compensation. The Supreme Court ordered the commission to pay the claim.

$500 for medical attention and $4000 covering an annual trip to Italy and four months residence there each year, pursuant to an Italian court order.

Chancellor Walker pointed out in his opinion that the mother, as guardian of the child, is entitled to use as much as reasonably necessary for the proper rearing of the infant and is not compelled to meet that expense from her own income, however great, provided the child has sufficient income of her own.

FILM COMEDIAN LARRY SEMON GOES 'BROKE'

Los Angeles, March 14 (AP)—Larry Semon, film comedian, who often has been featured in troublous doings on the screen, today was hailed as playing a real life version of being "broke."

Semon appeared in court here and asserted in a voluntary bankruptcy petition that he owed nearly a half million dollars and had only $300 to pay it with—not to mention the fact that he wanted to keep half of the $300.

In exact figures the comedian said he was in debt $454,639.87, of which secured claims total $80,000, unsecured claims $277,639.87 and accommodation papers $97,000.

Municipal and superior court judgments totaling over $2000 and various other debts, including bills due attorneys, doctors and cafes, were listed in the petition.

TO RELIEVE STOMACH DILATION

Dilation of the stomach usually arises because excess stomach acid causes food to ferment and form sour gases which are responsible for those unpleasant sensations of swelling and fullness, often very painful.

To avoid and relieve stomach dilation take a tablet of "Pape's Diapepsin" after meals or when pain is felt. "Pape's Diapepsin" neutralizes acidity and prevents the formation of wind, heartburn and flatulence, and insures healthy, painless digestion.

Druggists everywhere sell "Pape's Diapepsin" at 60 cents a package—not much to pay for complete freedom from digestive pain and stomach troubles, is it? Better get your package of "Pape's Diapepsin" today.

IVY SAWYER, star, and JOSEPH SANTLEY, producer, of "Just Fancy," graciously respond to a prolonged curtain call. Their smiles, Pepsodent keeps gleaming white.

A Glorious Surprise

"If you think teeth naturally "off color" just remove the dingy film—then they gleam, and glisten. 10-day tube free.

WINNING smiles are not wholly a matter of luck. Or dazzling white teeth are not possessed only by the few. Both come from a new way of removing teeth that brings results which will amaze you.

With correct care you can give teeth dazzling whiteness, and your gums the healthy coral tint you envy.

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film, a viscous coat that covers them.

That film is an enemy to your teeth — and your gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that "off-color" look.

Germs by the millions breed in it and lay your teeth open to decay. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea and gum disorders.

Ordinary brushing fails in successfully combating film.

That's why, regardless of care, teeth remain dull, unattractive.

Now, in a new-type dentifrice called Pepsodent, dental science has provided effective combatants. Their action is to curdle the film and remove it. Pepsodent also firms the gums.

Thus the world has turned, largely on dental advice, to this new method.

What you see when that film is removed—the whiteness of your teeth—will amaze you.

GIRL HELD WITH HIM IS FINED

Leaping from a window of a Commonwealth avenue apartment house to escape arrest today, Edward Hayes, 24, of South Boston, was followed unhesitatingly by Patrolman Malcolm of Back Bay police division who captured Hayes on the sidewalk 20 feet below.

A charge of having a loaded "machine gun" in his possession was placed against Hayes, and in Roxbury court he pleaded guilty; but was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction he quickly appealed.

The machine gun charge was made only after the police explained, because an automatic pistol found on Hayes and holding ten shots was more than 12 inches long.

With a girl who gave her name as Regina Westfield, 18, Hayes was surprised in the apartment by Patrolman Malcolm and Sergeant Dineen. The girl pleaded guilty to a statutory charge and paid a fine of $10.

Hayes also pleaded guilty to the earlier charge, but was sentenced to an additional six months in the second case and held in $1,000 bail.

Following the finding of packages of cigarettes in the room, both girl and man denied ownership. Hayes dressed in the window and dressing after the officers had entered it, under arrest.

LEWIS DEFENDS HIS MAT CROWN AT ARENA

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN — WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1928

New Bedford After School Basketball Title

MR. BOSTON
By Jack Conway

"THERE will not be any heavyweight championship bout in June as a result of Johnny Risko's victory over Jack Sharkey in their 15-round battle in New York," piped Mr. Boston as he stepped off the train from Gotham.

"I had a talk with Rickard before starting for home," went on the veteran, "and he told me he has given up all idea of promoting a Tunney match in June. Gene won't step to bat until September, when Rickard hopes to have Jack Dempsey as his opponent.

"The heavyweight eliminations have proved a perfect steam up for another Dempsey-Tunney match. They have ended with the old Tiger still the leading logical contender.

"Rickard still insists that Dempsey won't agree to fight, but fellows like Billy Duffy and Frank Marlow, who are very close to Dempsey, tell me that the financial arrangements are what are holding up another jam between Jack and Gene.

"Dempsey considers himself a better card than Tunney and believes he should have as big a slice of the gate receipts as the champion Tunney, on the other hand, contends that to the champion belongs the spoils. He calls attention to the fact he only got $250,000 when he battled Dempsey in Philadelphia, while the titleholder's end of the purse was $990,000.

"BILLY GIBSON, Tunney's manager, sat in at the Sharkey-Risko bout. When the decision went to the Cleveland Indian Rubber man, Gibson hopped from his seat and threw his hands into the air.

"Tunney's ruined as far as a June match is concerned," said Billy. "The champ and Risko wouldn't draw half a million dollars."

It didn't take Rickard long to arrive at a similar opinion. He then made an effort to sign Risko and Heeney. Charley Harvey, Heeney's manager, declared he would only sign the New Zealand heavyweight to fight Tunney. Failing to do this, Charley said Heeney would sail for England.

"Then let Cheeney take the next boat," snapped Rickard as he chewed away at a big black cigar. "I'm disappointed in all of these heavyweight contenders. There isn't one of them who sticks out. Risko is a good fighter, but lacks color. It is possible, though, that he may yet be built up as a contender for the championship."

"HOW I'd like to get Dempsey back into the fight racket. Then my worries about getting an opponent for Tunney would be over. The dispute over the long count in the seventh round of the Chicago fight would be all the ballyhoo we would require to get another $2,000,000 house.

"I still believe Dempsey is the greatest box office attraction in the boxing game. Match him right now against Risko, Sharkey, Heeney or Delaney and he'd draw more money than Tunney would if pitted against the same opponent.

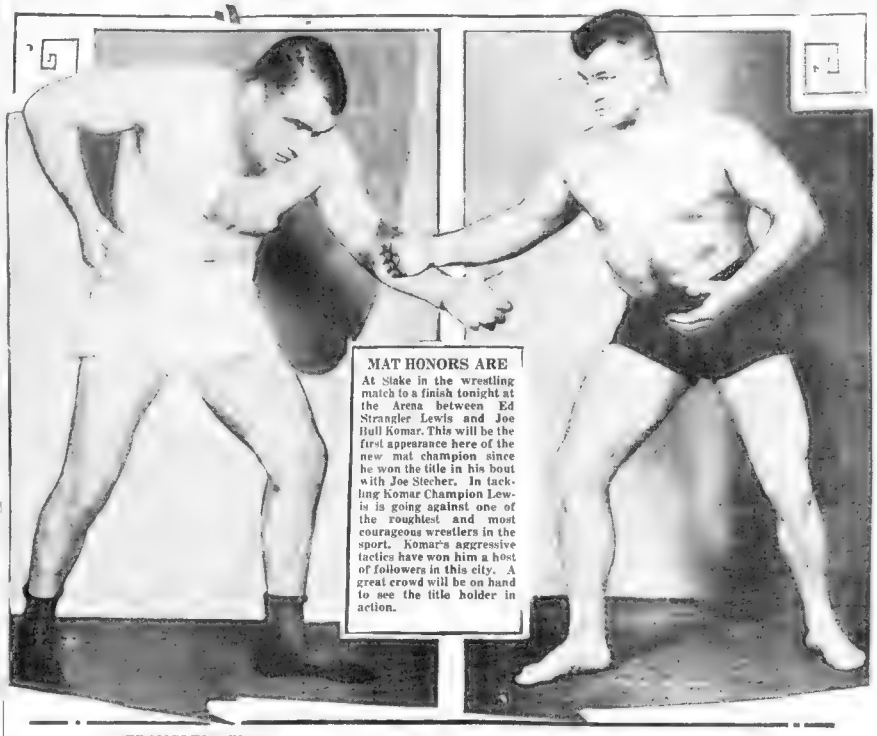
"Dempsey has the punch and the viciousness needed by a great heavyweight. I'd give anything I've got to roll back the years and have Dempsey 24 once more. What a fighter Jack was the day he belted Jess Willard in Toledo."

"I'M trying to arrange a bout between Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney for Braves Field in Boston. Such a match would make a perfect opening for my new Garden Club in Boston.

"I have a lease for several dates at Braves Field and would like to book some high-class matches. I figure my indoor arena at the North Station will be ready by November. It is then my plan to stage weekly boxing shows."

John Chapman, vice-president of Madison Square Garden Corporation, then remarked he'd drop a six-day bike race at the Boston Garden next spring.

WORLD'S HEAVYWEIGHT MAT CHAMP AND FOE TONIGHT



STRANGLER LEWIS — JOE BULL KOMAR

MAT HONORS ARE

At Stake in the wrestling match to a finish tonight at the Arena between Ed Strangler Lewis and Joe Bull Komar. This will be the first appearance here of the new mat champion since he won the title in his bout with Joe Stecher. In tackling Komar Champion Lewis is going against one of the roughest and most courageous wrestlers in the sport. Komar's aggressive tactics have won him a host of followers in this city. A great crowd will be on hand to see the title holder in action.

BULL KOMAR TO FORCE CHAMPION

New Bedford's Fast Team to Be Watched

The third annual Technology basketball tournament will get under way tomorrow afternoon, with Arlington high and New Bedford Vocational starting off the carnival in the opening game at the Tech hangar.

Lynn Classical will meet Brockton high immediately after the Arlington-New Bedford contest. In the evening Gloucester clashes with Framingham, and Medford will start the defense of its title, won last season, with Chelsea as its opponent.

Coach Bill McIntosh of New Bedford has his team playing its third successive year in the Tech tournament and the best it has done was to reach the semi-final round with Medford in 1926.

GREAT B. C. CENTER.

Coach McIntosh boasts of a tall, gaunt, colored center by the name of Antone Gomes. Gomes is the class of schoolboy centers according to all New Bedford fans who have seen him in action this winter and he's expected to be one of the outstanding players in the Tech tournament.

Arlington high school's stars are Joe Donahue and Lefty Lawder. Donahue has scored 197 points in 13 games while Lowder is right behind with 174 points in his credit in a like number of contests. Capt. Bill McNamara, defenseman, is another Arlington cellarist.

Coach Bill Joyce's Lynn Classical quintet feels almost certain of winning their opening game at Brockton. Lynn licked Brockton in a previous encounter by a score of 29 to 19 and is confident it can repeat. Lynn Classical has also licked Gloucester.

BROCKTON IS READY

Harold Krock, at left forward, is the mainstay of Art Staff's Brockton team. Brockton hasn't had a very good season, but is primed for the tournament and is due to make considerable trouble for some teams before they are eliminated.

Lynn Classical has no outstanding man in its lineup, which is a good thing for Coach Joyce. Cecil Burnett is the high scorer of the [illegible], but he [illegible] Emerson, Sharkey here Monday night.

Johnson, Captain Curran and Knapman, are all good basket tossers.

Gloucester high faces one difficulty in meeting Framingham. Gloucester plays and wins most of its games on its home floor, which is not of regulation size. Gloucester may be stage struck when it steps on the regulation court at the Tech hangare. Capt. John Aylward, however, is good in any and every game, and will give Framingham plenty of trouble leading his Fishtown five.

Framingham high has a mediocre team and has not shown a great deal of stuff during the winter. Coach Lawson has great faith in his club, with Charley Kittredge as his high scoring ace and expects them to be in at the finals.

Tunney Willing to Fight Tom Heeney

New York, March 14 (INS)—The problem of selecting Gene Tunney's next fistic opponent, a problem which Tex Rickard and his aides were unable to settle yesterday, may be solved this week. The promoter will leave here tomorrow for Miami, Fla., for a conference with the heavyweight champion.

Tunney is on record with the assertion that he should be matched with Tom Heeney without further ado. Heeney holds the save view Rickard, however, hopes to stage a final elimination bout at Madison Square Garden here on April 19 between Heeney and Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker, who beat Jack [illegible] Monday night.

19 Crimson Athletes Make Michigan Trip

Nineteen Crimson track men have been chosen by Coach Eddie Farrell to represent Harvard in its first track meet with Michigan at Ann Arbor next Saturday. Headed by Farrell and his assistant, Mikols, the Crimson party will leave late Friday afternoon and will return to Cambridge on Sunday.

Athletic Director William J. Bingham has contemplated making the trip with the runners, but is unable to make definite plans for the trip until many athletic plans now before him are completed.

"We expect a good, hard-fought meet," said Farrell [illegible] "We will have a good team perform[illegible]

JOE CICERO AMAZES RED SOX

16-Year-Old Rookie Infielder Hits, Tremendous Homer and Proves He Has Class

By JOE CASHMAN

Bradenton, Fla., March 14—... becomes more apparent each succeeding day that what to do with Joe Cicero, 16-year-old rookie box infielder, is going to be one of the hardest problems Manager Carrigan has ever been called upon to solve.

It is true that he has not faced the best of pitching to date, but he has been up against the same flingers as has Ken Williams, Flagstead, Todt, Hofman and the rest of the hard-hitting regulars and none of them has yet hit a ball nearly as far so that can't be used as an argument against him.

From all appearances, he is one of those natural sluggers who happen on the baseball scene very rarely.

Whether he has enough all around ability to warrant being retained is something for Manager Carrigan to decide.

He is not the greatest fielder in the world and he certainly lacks experience, but he can wield the old hickory with the best of them, and that covers a multitude of other sins in the diamond game today.

If he continues to break of ball games with his mighty bat, he is almost sure to see action at the start of the regular campaign, and if he is finally let out, the strongest sort of a string will be attached to him.

For it is virtually certain that within a year or two, he will be a full-fledged star.

Why it is important to filter the oil in your engine

- The AC Oil Filter removes the dirt, sludge, metal particles and other foreign matter from the oil, thereby eliminating excessive engine wear and frequent oil changing, thus minimizing repair bills and oil expense.
- When the oil filter becomes filled with dirt it has taken from the oil, it ceases to function. Only by installing a renewal cartridge when needed, insuring continuous filtration, can the oil be kept clean.
- Attendants at our booth, or any dealer, will gladly show you how to test your AC Oil Filter.

Fighter's Gameness Is Not All in Ring

By GENE TUNNEY
World's Heavyweight Champion

GAMENESS in the ring alone will never win a championship for a fighter. Gameness in sticking to the sport through thick and thin is perhaps ever more of a real test for a young man than the many gruelling hours he spends in the ring.

Many a man, whose courage during a bout has excited the wonder and admiration of the fans and earned him thunderous applause, has failed to meet the discouragements outside of the ring and stopped merely in the class of those who can take punishment.

That quality, if accompanied by nothing else, spells defeat for a boxer, for he is forgetting the principal purpose of boxing—self defense, without which he can never expect to exert his fullest power. His mightiest blows are discounted before he can deliver them.

But gameness outside the ring—in conducting his ring career is growing to be a more and more important factor in boxing for a number of reasons.

The greatest one perhaps is the keen competition that is developing between "big time" and "small time" boxing. If the young boxer is not satisfied to go all the way through the primary course, no matter how tough it may be, he cannot expect to have any success in the upper classes.

A SECOND reason is that one of the greatest proofs of gameness outside the ring is a youth's ability to keep his health and his head in spite of a few minor successes, so that when he makes an opportunity for himself it will be one upon which he can strike everything.

A third reason for gameness outside the ring is that a boxer with complaints and alibis and protests loses both the respect of fans and officials and his progress is accordingly retarded.

I spoke first about competition between major and minor boxing because of a situation which exists in many other lines besides boxing, but being the result of the present development of the game it cannot be helped.

This is that boxing in small cities is suffering from competition in the larger cities. The same holds true with the small neighborhood clubs which were so numerous when I was a beginner in New York. This can no doubt be helped but I do know ... boxer can learn ... customer ... to the center ... big town in ... approaches to do their shopping in less time than ... used to drive to his store with a horse and buggy.

Today, however, the big clubs, due to the increase in the public interest in boxing, can snatch away the likely-looking youngsters from the local clubs and offer them prices to appear in preliminaries ... their own cities, but should ... out losing on their shows.

Once on the big circuit the young fighter is thrown in with ... unless he has the game, ... to go back and make the best of the opportunity he has had. More of them will have to do this as time goes on, for they ... about all crowd into the big programs.

But if they are not discouraged at first, ... makes good ... and ... serious, taking ... purses and not fooling ... being ... and unappreciated, their turn will come and they will be ... with ... to stay in the upper ranks.

In this respect the competition between small and large boxing organizations may be a good thing despite the deplorable passing of community sporting centers.

COOK-COOS by Ted Cook

Mr. Frisby's Teeth Put In Congressional Bill

Detroit (Mich.) boy, who solves "perfect crime" puzzle.

DETROIT, Mich.

Sir:

There has been a persistent rumor afloat in this neighborhood since about the time Congressman Frisby reported his teeth missing that Congress had passed a law with teeth in it.

Upon investigation, 'twas found to be so and suspecting that they might be the missing molars — perhaps Congressman Frisby put them in one of his own pet laws and when it was passed forgot all about them— we put it to a test.

We set the teeth upon the speaker's platform of our local Chautauqua with a pitcher of water and a glass alongside of them.

Sure enough, the teeth began to work up and down very rapidly without seeming to say anything, taking a drink of water every once in a while when becoming hoarse.

This is conclusive proof that the teeth are the long-missing ones belonging to Frisby. We claim the reward offered.

Respectfully Yours,
Henry S. Donkeo.

Embarrassing Moments

Dear Sir—

Believe it or not, I'm in the pictures now and the first day at the studio I was introduced to a big director. He took a fancy to me and said I was just the type he needed in his new picture. This pleased me so I chummed around with him, paid all the luncheon checks and had him as my guest at the chocolate and vanilla mixup at Wrigley Field.

Imagine my embarrassment this morning when I found out he only directed wild animal pictures.

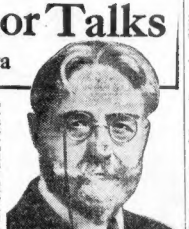
A Doctor Talks About Cascara



It is unfortunate that many people judge the thoroughness of a laxative by its violence. The salts that rush through the system may not even penetrate the film of poisonous matter that has coated the colon. A long list of drugs will "loosen the bowels" but what is the best way to CLEANSE them? The world's best laxative is one that Mother Nature makes in her own laboratory. It is the bark of a tree, called CASCARA. The Indians used to chew this bark—and each old age without a sick day. It is the best thing there is today, for any system; best for the blood. The most beneficial in its action on the bowels, of anything yet discovered. For many reasons:

First of all, there is no HABIT formed from cascara. The bowels are not weakened, but strengthened by its occasional use. The occasions when one needs this aid grow less and less. Its influence is long-felt. You don't find yourself worse bound-up the day following. You do find the bowels more inclined to move of their own volition. The candy cascarat that every drug-store always has in stock is the ideal form of cascara.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

THIS is the age of back-less evening gowns, kick-less drinks, fire-less cookers, companion-less marriage, tune-less music and heart-less love affairs.

A girl never can be sure whether a man gets intoxicated on the eve of his wedding in order to celebrate his happiness, to give himself the courage to go through with it, or just to forget that he is signing away his liberty.

Every woman's heart is a memory-book, packed between the leaves with the faded roses of dead Spring romances. They sweeten her life with a faint warm fragrance, long after the chill of disillusionment.

No matter how determinedly a man may have pursued a woman before marriage, after marriage, he always has a secret suspicion that she "hypnotized" him into it.

Never listen seriously to what a man says before the first drink, when he's cautious—nor after the third drink, when he's irresponsible.

A model wife must be a sort of circus horse, with a broad back, a steady gait and the capacity for going around and around in the same old narrow circle without kicking.

After the scars have been healed a woman always sighs, "How I loved him!"—a man, "How she loved me!"

The "Companionate Marriage" may be all right—but the Lord knows it's hard enough to keep a man in the straight and narrow path, nowadays, without starting him right off at the crossroads.

A woman doesn't dare to "punish" a man for anything, these days—because she knows that there is always another woman waiting right around the corner to "console" him.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

FORBES CALLS WALL STREET MONTE CARLO

By B. C. FORBES

New York, March 14—At the moment, the New York Stock Exchange has become a mammoth Monte Carlo. Gamblers intoxicated by successful operations, and given ready access to unlimited millions of cheap money, have taken possession and are industriously fingering a speculative orgy never matched in the stock market's history.

B. C. Forbes

Millionaire gamblers are reconcentrating their fireworks on a handful of stocks. President Harbord of the Radio Corporation, and responsible executives of other companies interviewed, declare emphatically that there have been no new developments justifying the stock market's jamboree. They deprecate the reckless gambling exhibitions. But, of course, they are powerless.

It is very manifest that wealthy gamblers have been indulging in short selling on an abnormal scale. But all past experience warrants the assumption that a good many small investors have been drawn into the buying side of the market, especially in its latest and most sensational stages.

While stocks are being forced higher and higher, Wall Street receives no condemnation from the public. But let the market collapse, as it did in February and March two years ago, and howls arise all over the country. Wall Street then is sweepingly condemned as a gambling hell. The New York Stock Exchange is maligned as an iniquitous institution maintained to fleece the public. Clamor for punitive laws arises.

The net result is to arouse afresh throughout the country, hostility, not only to Wall Street, but to New York and our whole financial machinery.

That gamblers have abused the orderly, legitimate functions of the country's greatest security market is starkly manifest. It is easier to draw attention to the evil than to stop it. The Federal Reserve Bank authorities plainly intimated weeks ago that the unprecedented borrowing of funds for stock market purposes should be curtailed. The raising of the rediscount rates from 3½ to 4 per cent was intended to effect that end. In the past such official action would have been sufficient to call a halt upon unbridled speculation.

But the gamblers have chosen to flout the Federal Reserve authorities. And bankers, apparently, have not shut down their speculative borrowings, a subject on which we will doubtless hear more later.

Now, it can be taken for granted that the authorities will not spinelessly admit defeat, that they will not sit back resignedly and watch Wall Street's wild ongoings to continue without making fresh efforts to check them.

Then what?

Orgies usually end in headaches.

ENGINEERS SEE B. & M. BRIDGE OPENING

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

One hundred structural bridge and welding engineers from all parts of the country today went to the official opening of the Boston & Maine Railroad bridge at Chicopee Falls, the first completed electrically arc welded bridge in the world.

The party from Boston included: Louis E. Moore, chairman Affiliated Technical Societies of Boston; Holbrook Pinkett, chief of Inspections Department of Public Safety, State House, Boston; B. W. Arnold, bridge engineer, Boston & Maine Railroad; Professor C. M. Spofford, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; E. E. Chase, bridge engineer, Boston & Albany Railroad; M. A. Thompson, chairman Boston Section American Welding Society; E. E. Pettes, J. R. Worcester Company, consulting structural engineer; T. H. Sullivan, commissioner Public Works Department, City of Boston; S. F. Waldron, contracting manager American Bridge Company; E. L. Lockman, Boston Elevated Railway Company; Frank P. Walker, chief engineer, Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company.

Another party of forty from New York, headed by Gilbert D. Fish, consulting engineer, Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, included engineers representing twenty railroads from the eastern part of the United States, bridge and structural engineers, and publicity officials.

The party was taken by special train from Chicopee Falls to Chicopee Falls, where the ceremony of accepting the railroad from the contractors was held. The train then passed over the bridge and the visitors were given an opportunity to inspect the work.

When the latest sensational upswing in Radio Corporation stock was at its height, the writer naturally started a few inquiries. As a result

Owen D. Young President Harbord of one of these, he was able to publish a statement by President Harbord. G. Harbord of the big company to the effect that the general knew of no change in the company's affairs which he thought would account for the unprecedented advance in the prices of its shares. This statement is most important to keep in mind.

Perhaps you remember the last year's investigation of an alleged investment corner in a railroad stock. We would not expect a great deal to happen as a result of such proboes. The outstanding bullish point of Radio Corporation, as we have maintained and pointed out for several years, is its possession of valuable basic patents. These bore fruit largely last year when their companies were forced to "sign up" for substantial tribute.

Another bull point on Radio that is nothing new is the close partnership of its shares by General Electric and Westinghouse. United Fruit and American Telephone, it is true, disposed of their large holdings of Radio long ago, but it can be termined Radio did not pass into unfriendly hands.

Owen D. Young, former Boston lawyer, is chairman of the board of directors of the Radio Corporation and of the General Electric Co. President Harbord is a McBride. Harbord by the way, was drafted into the business ranks from the U. S. Army, in which he began as a private and rose to be second in command.

R. H. White Co. hands out a gift lion dollars in its 23-1-3 per cent stock dividend. Sixty-three years ago, when the big Boston store was founded, this would have been considered one of the nine wonders of the world. Today it serves mainly to show on "how firm a foundation" the quote from a famous hymn—those merchants of more than half a century ago builded.

R. H. White & Co. management goes on unchanged. All the officers and directors, were re-elected, as follows: George H. Johnson, president; Maurice A. Myrtle, vice-president; Samuel L. Carr, clerk; Arthur J. Kelly, treasurer; directors, George H. Johnson, Maurice A. McBride, Herbert F. Russell, Gilbert H. Noyes, Arthur H. Sargent, Jr., Francis W. Tally.

Those attempting to belittle New England industries might take a glance at the record of Torrington Co., listed on the Boston Stock Exchange. It would not make them cheerful. The New England manufacturer of vacuum cleaners, wire spokes, nipples, sewing machines and miscellaneous hardware sold at a new record high at $101. Torrington Co. has long enjoyed such a solid financial position that it is able to pay out in dividends virtually all it earns. It also adds to its surplus additional units to supplement its presently business without recourse to financing. During last year 8,000 units were acquired, the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Co., makers of bicycle pedals, spokes, etc., and the Tiltz Pratt Co. of Essex, Conn., makers of wire tacks and nippers.

California investment trust ruling requires semi-annual filing of statements of holdings and limits investments in any single security to 5 per cent of the total held. This ruling is far from drastic. Open ended investment trusts here in the east as a rule make public their holdings every few weeks, and some keep the list of changes available for day to day. As for the "5 per cent limit" on investments, the better grade of eastern investment trusts usually have very many times the diversity required in California.

"Self regulation" has been the slogan of the really leading investment trusts in the East, and seems to have worked well to date.

While State St. has been the scene of a good many "massacres," the Boston Massacre, in State st., near the head of Exchange, is the only one with paving markings.

The movement of broker- office away from State st. seems to have been checked, at least temporarily. In the past few months a number of brokers have been moving back toward the old center of stock and bond activities.

Mathew C. Brush, former Boston Elevated head and still an "L" official, is president of American International Corporation, which was one of the chief beneficiaries of last week's rise. They say A. C. Cleaned up most of its "dead-wood" and took on substantial lines, of prominent stocks which now show the corporation large profits. American International is one of the large open investment trusts of the country and enjoys the counsel of some of the shrewdest judges of investment

NEW GRAHAM TRUCK AT SHOW

The company's exhibit in Boston Automobile Show this year will consist of five trucks, showing the different sizes, namely, the two-ton, the ton and a half, the ton, the three-quarter ton and the half-ton.

All of these trucks belong to owners with national reputations and bear the colors and advertising of the concerns who have bought them and who will receive delivery of them at the conclusion of the show. Five different body types, which are among the most popular, are mounted on the truck chassis shown. They consist of sinks, screen, panel, express and canopy.

The line being shown now is in many important respects quite different from that which was exhibited a year ago. The present models represent distinct advances both in design and performance.

These models, which use the four cylinder engine, the one-half ton, three-quarter ton and a one and a half-ton, now have a motor that is notably better than the motor used a year ago. This is the "124" engine used in the Brothers' famous "Four in America." In certain respects it has been changed to meet the heavy duty requirements of trucks in a truck power plant but in essentials it is the same. It has the advantage of a greater speed and greater speed than the former engine. It is also much more economical to operate, more powerful and quieter.

An inspection of this engine is a revelation to those who are familiar with truck power plants and will impress even the layman with the cleancut design, obvious strength and accessibility of working parts.

This powerful four-cylinder engine is fitted with a sturdy, heavy-duty transmission and a large single plate clutch, both designed for truck service.

In the six-cylinder, two-ton model the same engine is used as in Dodge Brothers' senior line of sixes. It is powerful, fast, sturdy and economical to operate but has been remodified somewhat to conform to truck service.

The engine has a seven-bearing crankshaft, which alone is an important feature designed for the rugged requirements demanded in operation. It weighs 69 pounds and is machined all over. The connecting rods are chrome nickel steel and pistons of light alloy give the strength and ample desired in the modern motor truck. A four forward speed transmission assures surprising ability for emergencies and makes possible moderate engine speed for fast, long runs. Jackless hydraulic brakes are a valuable internal expanding type operate on all four wheels and insure safety in operation, a requisite of heavy vehicles that are capable of operating at very high speed.

During 1927 the truck division of Dodge Brothers produced and sold approximately 40,000 motor trucks and commercial cars without getting the full effect of the particularly good models which were added to its line late in the year. These are a two-ton six-cylinder truck and a ¾-ton panel delivery car.

BIG CHEVROLET EXHIBIT

A SECTION OF THE BOSTON SHOW

OLDSMOBILES IN DEMAND

Before a gathering of more than 250 dealers and bankers, Harry C. Fiurn, general manager of Boston Oldsmobile Co., declared at the Hotel Somerset that the New England buying public has shown unusual interest in the New Oldsmobile since its announcement and that the Oldsmobile is spreading all over the territory."

Mr. Fiurn also introduced the honor guests: H. S. Wier, assistant general sales manager; T. M. Stambaugh, service manager; P. C. Ile Barry, sales promotion manager; E. J. Glenny, regional supervisor of New York, and E. J. McMullen, sales promotion manager.

Wier visioned a wonderful outlook for the new Oldsmobile in 1928.

"Improvements in the Oldsmobile factory and a $3,000,000 expansion program have been completed, ready to increase our production facilities to 450 cars a day. From dealers' reports and wholesale orders for cars even this added production schedule will be inadequate to meet the growing demand all over the country."

Governors' Day Observed at Boston Auto Show

The annual Governor's Day at the Boston Automobile Show will be observed through today and this evening.

It will be one of the big days of New England's greatest auto show. The attendance, which has already broken all previous records for the first few days will undoubtedly reach a new high mark today.

The $1,000,000 spectacle of beauty that has been arranged in Mechanics Building under the personal supervision of Chester I. Campbell is admitted to be the most gorgeous motor pageant in the 26 years of automobile shows in Boston.

Sales for the first three days of the show, exhibitors declare, have shown a greater volume than ever before, and the indications are that the aggregate business of the seven days of the exposition will exceed the million and a half-dollar mark.

The musical organizations furnish the entertainment program each afternoon and evening in the various halls of the big exposition building.

Attendance at the Copley-Plaza salon, which is open daily from 1 p. m. to midnight, has also been larger than usual. This famous living shown in the deluxe models which are on display in the beautiful ballroom of the hotel.

The firm of C. P. Rockwell, Inc., yesterday tendered a noonday luncheon to the Nash dealers in the Swiss room of the Copley-Plaza and today the staffs of the Lincoln-Boston Motor Co. and the New England Velie Co. will attend luncheons and meetings at the Copley-Plaza and the Scott Motors Co. will lunch at the Hotel Brunswick.

DURANT SETS NEW RECORD

The sales force of the Durant automobile met at the Copley-Plaza today and listened to T. S. Johnson, general sales manager, who recently completed an extensive trip through the country.

"The Durant organization," Mr. Johnson said, "was never in better condition than it is today. There has been a steady increase through the country since the first showing of the new line. The factory is sold out for the next two and one-half months, and will be operated day and night working on full time.

"At Saturday noon, Dec. 24, we have two assembling lines open averaging 500 cars a day and after April 1 we shall be able to turn out about 1,000 cars an hour.

"In order to show this line to the full advantage it was necessary for us to secure Talbot hall, as no other space was sufficiently large to accommodate the display."

Among those present at the meeting were Assistant Sales Manager H. J. Shorter; General Sales Manager A. J. Steigerwalt; President George F. Dunlap; Vice-President and Sales Manager George Tenney; Local Sales Manager Morton of the Locomobile Co., and Frank Marr, general manager of the Durant Motor Co. of Boston.

SPECIAL WILLYS-OVERLAND SALON ATTRACTS MANY

The special automobile salon which is being held at the sales-rooms of the Willys-Overland Co., this week features a unique summer cottage background with an elaborate display of a Willys-Knight cut-away chassis in the foreground.

F. L. McNulty, manager of the retail division of the company, says that there is an earlier indication of spring and summer exodus among motor car buyers than ever before.

"In this window," he states "we have tried to catch the real spirit of pleasurable motoring, the run down to the shore or up into the mountains for the weekend, a pleasant little cabin and a real series of vacations served by the automobile."

The New Building of the Y. W. C. A.

When you are called upon this week for a contribution toward the building at the corner of Clarendon and Stuart streets and the work it represents you will be glad to recall Lieutenant-Governor Allen's tribute to the Y. W. C. A., at the laying of the cornerstone last October:

"To the young girl who enters a strange city the Y. W. C. A. opens its doors for comfort and protection. It has the foundation of true religion to build on. Its building is open to any girl or woman, regardless of race or creed, who is in sympathy with the purposes of the association.

"It is a splendid thing in this age of speed, jazz and restlessness that there are citizens who work and support unselfishly and at a personal sacrifice an institution which helps to build up a more idealistic citizenship, and I am proud to have the privilege of taking part in these exercises."

There are 879,000 women and girls in Greater Boston, 272,000 of them employed, 25,000 living away from home, 68,000 in grammar and high schools.

The new building will be their community center, as well as a convenient first stop for the 23,000 who come to Boston each year from other sections.

It will be equipped with swimming pool, bowling alleys, gymnasium, assembly and recreation halls, living and calling rooms, coffee and luncheon rooms and library and will contain 250 chambers.

The opportunity to give to such a cause should be counted a privilege.

Homer Loring, D. A. I.

What Will This "Rejuvenator" Tackle Next?

Here is a tip that may be worth money to you.

Keep your eye on the name of Mr. Homer Loring in the public prints and in particular be quick to note the name of the organization with which he is next identified.

The story is told around town of the well-known citizen who called upon a friend who, he believed, might have EARLY knowledge of Mr. Loring's plans.

"Tell me twenty-four hours in advance what Loring is going to sign up with," he said, "and I will make you a present of ten thousand dollars."

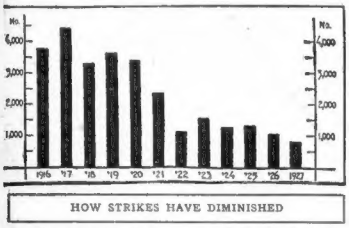
Mr. F. Lauriston Bullard calls Mr. Loring "doctor of ailing industries." The title seems to be as well-deserved as apt. Before the good doctor was called to the bedside of the Boston & Maine Railroad he had brought one railroad back to solvency and placed another on the way to prosperity.

His work as chairman of the Commission on Administration and Finance is said to have "started the Commonwealth on the road of economy and efficiency." There also stands to his credit an "excellent job" as public trustee of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company.

We expect to have no advance information of Mr. Loring's next connection, but considering the gentleman's record we should say the news may still be of value ten minutes or more after the official announcement.

LessStrikes, ThankHeaven

But, Too Much Unemployment Unfortunately



HOW STRIKES HAVE DIMINISHED

This important diagram, prepared by the Cambridge Associates of Boston, is encouraging to those that employ and to those that are employed, and particularly encouraging to the Nation as a whole.

It shows that in 1927, compared with 1917, strikes had fallen off more than 75 per cent. There were less than one-quarter the number of labor wars in 1927 as compared with 1917.

And while the decline has been irregular, it has been continuous, as the diagram shows.

In 1927, the year just gone, were recorded the smallest number of strikes in the Nation's history, in proportion to the number of firms engaged in business and the amount of the business.

In that there is a lesson for employers as well as for employed.

Employers should notice that when wages are high, labor troubles are fewer. And there is no reason why labor should not be well paid in this country, the richest in the world.

If Americans will buy from each other, shutting out the competition of underpaid foreign labor, when necessary paying the home worker more than the foreign cost, there will be no trouble about plenty of work for Americans, good wages for the workers, good profits for the manufacturer, and prosperity for the country.

Industrial wars are as bad as military wars, except for

CONCERNING WAYS OF DIPLOMATS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ONE of the most persistent international bugaboos, a principal cause of the senseless race for armaments, not to say one of the causes of war, is the notion that seems to be popular in every country that diplomats of every other country are deep, sly, cunning fellows, while the diplomats of our own country are babes in innocence and childlike trustfulness.

Much was said of President Wilson being deceived and hoodwinked by the deep and crafty representatives of other governments at Paris. It has always been my suspicion that President Wilson and his advisors were about as shrewd as any of the others.

Somehow it pleases us to think that the statesmen of Europe are oily, trick Metternichs and Talleyrands, while our own statesmen are merely Sunday School teachers from Kokomo, Indiana.

We are bluff, hale and frank, while the people of other nations are crafty and shy.

I was once in a boat sailing along the coast of Japan. My daughter exclaimed, "What a beautiful coast line!" One of the party replied, "Yes, but the Japanese are tricky." Even a coast line must have some deep and sinister significance.

There are doubtless bad and devious people, also nations, in this world, but the world is never going to get along well until we learn to trust each other. This was the teaching of Christ and he was about the most adult-minded of human beings.

"He who trusts everybody will probably be bitten," said Spurgeon, "but he who suspects everybody will be devoured."

It is a long step in the dark to get the habit of trustfulness, but it is a good habit to form, nevertheless.

The Golden Rule is all right, but it needs an amendment. To the advice, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" should be added the supplement, dare to do it first.

To get along well with your neighbor requires after all a lot of daring, more courage perhaps than to quarrel with them.

It is easy to be suspicious and captious and touchy. It is hard to be trusting. But it pays.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A SAD little letter lies on my desk. It says—"Dear Miss Robinson—I am fourteen and nobody likes me. What can I do? Jim."

Chokes you up a bit, doesn't it? Remember how life hurt you when you were fourteen, Pal?

We hear so much of "flaming youth," but how about the youth that does not flame, the unhappy, confused youngsters who smoulder so wretchedly through their 'teens? Shy, awkward boys; moody, backward girls; how many of them there are, and how lightly we dismiss their problem. But that problem isn't light to them. It's a heavy cross for young spirits to bear, and often it leaves them maimed for life.

Must youngsters pass through such a darkened time? I cannot believe it. It seems to me that life should be released into a lovely blossoming, when it passes from childhood days—it should have a second birth.

There are truly two births for every child. The first is the birth of the body; almost any healthy man and woman can give a child normal, physical birth. But it requires more than physical fitness to bring a child happily through that second birth, when the vague emotions and attitudes of babyhood shape into adult character. It takes spiritual fitness—a nobler, loftier mingling of the father and mother.

JUST AS SURELY AS THE CHILD'S BODY DRAWS LIFE FROM THE UNITED BODIES OF ITS PARENTS SO DOES THE CHILD'S CHARACTER DRAW LIFE FROM THEIR UNITED SPIRITS.

Married harmony means more than the happiness of a man and a woman. It means the actual spiritual health of their growing children.

Children feed not only on bread and meat. They feed on their parents' joy in each other, their sympathy and humor, their tact and friendliness.

Children are poisoned not only by bad milk or tainted vegetables. They are as surely poisoned by the rudeness and ridicule of husband and wife, the bickering and nagging and peevish distrust.

This is not a sentimental theory. It is a profound spiritual fact and you can find the proof of that fact in a million American homes today.

They are beautiful homes, prosperous, popular homes, with every device in them for the service of the body and the stimulation of the mind. Yet in them bewildered children pine unhappily. THEIR PARENTS HAVE MATED FOR THE BIRTH OF THEIR BODIES BUT THEY ARE NOT MATED FOR THE DEEPER, MORE EXQUISITE BIRTH OF THE SPIRIT. They are too intent on their own ends, too concerned with their own self-expression to release for expression the spirits of their children.

We would rise up in wrath against parents who starve the bodies of their children. But when a small, starved spirit drifts wistfully by we only laugh and say: "Aren't kids that age a mess?"

They are!

God forgive us for making them so.

A New Yorker's Europe

by O. O. McINTYRE

ST. MORITZ, March 14—The first night in St. Moritz is spent in the wide-eyed manner of the gold fish. You find sleep impossible and blame it on the dinner coffee or natural excitement of a change of country. You learn the next day the high altitude caused the racing pulse and stimulation.

But one becomes acclimated quickly. The women wear long trousers in the male fashion. Feet are shod in heavy brogans over which are worn heavy woolen stockings. Skiing and bob sledding—belly buster fashion—are the chief sports and they make it hum.

There are two tricks to skiing. One is to avoid a used or slick mountain for the initial venture. The other is to keep both legs going in the same direction. It is rather "scarey" to whizz off on skis at breakneck speed with no idea how it is all going to turn out.

But if you have a spill it is like landing in a soft feather bed and you only suffer a slight blow to your dignity. Bob sledding offers the same thrill as a Coney Island roller-coaster at far greater speed. You shoot up hills and drop dizzily down vales with a pulse-pumping zip.

If you come here with a disgust for food epitomized in sipping a weak broth you find yourself in 24 hours wolfing a large juicy steak with all the trimmings. I thought the Swiss existed chiefly on native cheese, but I'm over that notion. They are grand cooks.

Women who pride themselves on dainty feet should not visit St. Moritz. The feet are wrapped and ballooned into such miniature charges they are known not as "Airedales," but "Great Danes." The strange part of it is that after a time the effect appears smart.

All servants seem to be known by the name of Fritz in the same fashion, I suppose, we call Pullman porters George. The Fritz assigned to me took me on my first skiing this morning. After fastening my skis, he gave me a shove. I swallowed seven quarts of air, all the mountains and houses seemed to flatten out and I landed against a hillside doing a complete split. I'm mad at Fritz.

JAY O'BRIEN, well-known along Broadway, heads the social activities. He is a former husband of Mae Murray and now the husband of a wife of Julius Fleischmann, the late Cincinnati millionaire sportsman. He is a good-looking fellow with a soft Southern drawl and the life of the party—at which he seems to be a perpetual host.

A MORNING PAPER announces: "Heavy Snow Storm Hits New York." Somehow in this blanket of snow that does not sound of great news importance. Under my open window sits a party of four at an outdoor table. They have been skiing and are now whis-kling—what an atrocious pun—and I hope to finish this before they begin singing. A few drinks here and you may depend on a song.

ONE of the guests is a chunky little man with a button nose, who wears ear muffs and collects autographs. He is from Waxahachie, Texas, and goes from one hotel door to another with a gentle knock and request for a signature. I've often wondered what people did who lived in Waxahachie.

I STOPPED in a little house along a slope today to inquire a direction. The man who answered the knock eyed me curiously and gave the desired information. "You are a long way from the Hotel Majestic," he called as I set off. One rarely sees a waiter's face so I did not remember him. He had been a waiter at that New York hotel when I lived there a good many years ago. He had come home at the outbreak of the war, lost an arm in action and is now conducting a little grocery shop in the Alps. And his first name is Fritz.

IN THE smoking room I was surrounded by a party of five big game hunters. They discussed elephant round-ups in Africa, wild pig sticking in Borneo and tiger hunting in India. And I had a feeling when they glanced at me they rather suspected me of doing fancy embroidery work.

the fact that men are not killed. But in some cases industrial wars have been as bloody as any war.

As women and children suffer in military wars between nations, so the wives and children of the workers suffer in the great strikes.

Strikes should be abolished entirely, hundreds of millions of dollars would be saved to the nation every year, and the greater part of this money would be saved for the workers that are in need of it.

Nations talk of arbitration and often practice it. This country is always glad to arbitrate any question that may arise.

If nations can arbitrate questions in war, why should not employers and their workers arbitrate questions of wages and hours, and other industrial questions which after all THE PUBLIC PAYS THE BILLS in higher or lower prices?

And if employers and workers cannot agree to arbitration voluntarily, why should not the nation which suffers the inconveniences and the losses of strikes INSIST ON ARBITRATION, as it has the right to do, and end strikes forever?

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By Leola Allard

A CHICAGO attorney named Hamilton secured a divorce for Dr. William Courtney. The same day the lawyer married the divorced wife. That was a month ago. Now Dr. Courtney and his wife want to get back together, and the physician has asked the court to annul the marriage and set aside the divorce.

"No, indeed," says Attorney Hamilton, "there is a principle involved."

Wouldn't you like to know Mr. Hamilton's idea of principle? The Chicago Bar Association is trying to find out what it is.

LADY ASHLEY of London has been appointed censor of film etiquette in England, to make sure that actresses acting ladies act like ladies. And today comes word that women in London's fashionable clubs have taken to cigar smoking. It must be hard to act like a lady in an English film.

SPEAKING of women usurping men's rights, I saw six-foot Peter Arno, the artist, walking along leading a tiny black poodle on a long leash. At first I thought I was having black spots before my eyes, but I confirmed the story. It was a dog.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT announces that suffrage is a failure and that women should organize under women bosses, as men will listen to the woman boss with votes behind her.

Theodore Dreiser, in the same paper, says: "Why all this bunk about 'rights' which, when received, are nothing more than the ashes of defeat in the field of love. Nine-tenths of the women would chuck the job for a sympathetic and attractive man, and go with him wherever he says."

LAST week a 16-year-old Kansas City girl had her mother arrested, fined and jailed for beating her. A father in Dallas, Tex., was flogged by four men for beating his motherless little boy. It is the children who are coming into their rights.
